

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PURE COD-LIVER OIL,

Manufactured on the Sea-Shore by HAZARD & CASWELL, from Fresh and Selected Livers.

PROF. PARKER, of N.Y., says: "I have tried almost every other manufacturer's Oil, and give yours the decided preference."

PROF. HAYS, State Assayer of Massachusetts, after a full analysis of it, says: "It is the best for foreign or domestic use."

After years of experimenting, the Medical profession of Europe and America, who have studied the effects of different Cod-Liver Oils, have unanimously decided the light straw-colored Cod-Liver Oil to be far superior to any of the brown Oils.

The Three Best Tonics of Pharmacopœia: IRON-PHOSPHORUS-CALISAYA.

CASWELL, HAZARD & CO. also call the attention of the Profession to their preparation of the above estimable Tonics, as combined in their elegant and palatable Ferro-Phosphated Elixir of Calisaya Bark, a combination of the Pyrophosphate of Iron and Calisaya never before attained, in which the nauseous inkiness of the Iron and astringency of the Calisaya are overcome, without any injury to their active tonic principles, and blended into a beautiful Amber-colored Cordial, delicious to the taste and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. This preparation is made directly from the Royal Calisaya Bark, not from its Alkaloids or their Salts, being unlike other preparations called "Elixir of Calisaya and Iron," which are simply an Elixir of Quinine and Iron. Our Elixir can be depended upon as being a true Elixir of Calisaya Bark with Iron. Each dessert-spoonful contains seven and a half grains Royal Calisaya Bark, and two grains Pyrophosphate of Iron.

Ferro-Phosphated Elixir of Calisaya Bark with Strychnia. This preparation contains one grain of Strychnia added to each pint of our Ferro-Phosphated Elixir of Calisaya Bark, greatly intensifying its tonic effect.

Ferro-Phosphated Elixir of Calisaya Bark with Bismuth. containing eight grains Ammonio-Citrate of Bismuth in each table-spoonful of the Ferro-Phosphated Elixir of Calisaya Bark.

Elixir Phosphate Iron, Quinine, and Strychnia. Each tea-spoonful contains one grain Phosphate Iron, one grain Phosphate Quinine, and one sixty-fourth of a grain of Strychnia.

Ferro-Phosphated Elixir of Gentian, containing one ounce of Gentian, and one hundred and twenty-eight grains Pyrophosphate Iron to the pint, making in each dessert-spoonful seven and one-half grains Gentian and two grains Pyrophosphate Iron.

Elixir Valerianate of Ammonia. Each tea-spoonful contains two grains Valerianate Ammonia.

Elixir Valerianate of Ammonia and Quinine. Each tea-spoonful contains two grains Valerianate Ammonia and one grain Quinine.

Ferro-Phosphated Wine of Wild Cherry Bark. Each fluid drachm contains twenty-five grains of the Bark, and two grains Ferri-Pyrophosphate.

Wine of Pepsin. This article is prepared by us from fresh Rennets and pure Sherry Wine.

Elixir Taraxacum Comp. Each dessert-spoonful contains fifteen grains of Taraxacum.

Elixir Pepsin, Bismuth, and Strychnine. Each fluid-drachm contains one sixty-fourth of a grain of Strychnine.

Juniper Tar Soap. Highly recommended by the celebrated Erasmus Wilson, and has been found very serviceable in chronic eczema and diseases of the skin generally. It is invaluable for chapped hands and roughness of the skin caused by change of temperature. It is manufactured by ourselves, from the purest materials, and is extensively and successfully prescribed by the most eminent Physicians.

Iodo-Ferrated Cod-Liver Oil. This combination holds sixteen grains Iodide of Iron to the ounce of our pure Cod-Liver Oil.

Cod-Liver Oil, with Iodine, Phosphorus, and Bromine. This combination represents Phosphorus, Bromine, Iodine, and Cod-Liver Oil, in a state of permanent combination, containing in each pint: Iodine, eight grains; Bromine, one grain; Phosphorus, one grain; Cod Liver Oil, one pint.

Cod-Liver Oil, with Phosphate of Lime. This is an agreeable emulsion, holding three grains Phosphate of Lime in each table-spoonful.

Cod-Liver Oil, with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

The above Obstetric "Ready Reckoner" consists of two columns, one of Calendar, the other of Lunar months, and may be read as follows: A patient has ceased to menstruate on the 1st of July; her confinement may be expected at soonest about 31st of March, (the end of nine Calendar months); or at latest, on the 6th of April, (the end of ten Lunar months.) Another has ceased to menstruate on the 20th January; her confinement may be expected on the 30th September, plus 20 days (the end of nine Calendar months) at soonest; or on the 7th October, plus 20 days (the end of ten Lunar months) at latest.

PREFACE.

THE first volume of the CHICAGO MEDICAL REGISTER was issued in the latter part of the year 1872. It was edited and published by T. Davis Fitch, M. D., and Norman Bridge, M. D., who undertook the work "in the belief that such a book was both needed and desired by the medical profession of the State, and particularly of Chicago." The correctness of that belief was amply confirmed by the welcome accorded the book by the profession, whose members at once acknowledged its useful and influential character.

Inasmuch as a prominent feature of the work consisted in the preparation and publication of a list of the regular physicians practicing in the city of Chicago, the editors, realizing the importance of accuracy in such a matter, submitted that portion of the book to the presidents of the regular medical colleges and societies of Chicago, and of the Illinois State Medical Society. Yet, notwithstanding the fact that these gentlemen performed the work with the greatest amount of care, vigilance and honesty of purpose, many errors found their way into the list—some names appearing there which should have been omitted, and others omitted which should have appeared.

In order that the present and succeeding volumes of the Register may be as free from errors of this character as possible, the publication of the work has been placed under the supervision of the Chicago Medico-Historical Society, before which has been brought the name of every known practitioner of medicine in Chicago and its vicinity. When there has been sufficient evidence before the Society to warrant the conclusion that the person represented is a reputable physician, in good standing according to the Code of Ethics of the American Medical Association, the name has been placed in the list. All others have been excluded. If, through inadvertence, any name has been improperly omitted, the error will be rectified in subsequent volumes of the book, provided proper representation of the fact be made to the Society.

The Editor begs to offer his thanks to the members of the Publication Committee for prompt and efficient aid in preparing material for the book. He has been placed under special obligations by Dr. Norman Bridge and Dr. George H. Chapman, both of whom have very greatly lessened his labors.

PHYSICIANS IN CHICAGO

WHO ARE IN GOOD AND REGULAR STANDING ACCORDING TO THE CODE OF ETHICS OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

“Any physician who shall by any advertisement, placard, handbill, circular, pamphlet, book, card, or any public means, announce himself or herself as possessing unusual or peculiar skill in any branch of medicine or surgery, or who shall assume any title not specially granted by a regularly chartered college, shall not be eligible to membership in this society; and the name of such physician shall not be permitted to appear in the list of regular physicians published in the Chicago Medical Register; Provided, that a physician may be permitted to affix or connect with his or her name the title or designation of a specialty when he or she shall have ceased to do any practice not pertaining to such specialty, and not otherwise, but the language of such designation shall always state this fact, and shall be in style thus: 'Surgery only,' or 'Exclusive attention given to —— diseases.'"—Resolution adopted by the Chicago Medico-Historical Society, August 2, 1874.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATIONS.

American Medical Association.

Organized in New York City, May 5, 1846, as the National Medical Convention. Reorganized, and name changed, May 5, 1847. First Annual Meeting held at Baltimore, May 2, 1848.

Composed of permanent members and delegates. Each local medical society in good standing may send one delegate for every ten of its resident members, and one for every additional fraction of more than half this number. The faculty of every regularly constituted medical college, or chartered school of medicine, and the professional staff of every chartered or municipal hospital, containing one hundred inmates or more, are privileged to send two delegates; but every other permanently organized medical institution in good standing is limited in its representation to one delegate. The medical departments of the United States army and navy, are each entitled to four delegates, appointed by the chiefs of their respective bureaus. Each delegate holds his appointment for one year.

Permanent members, who are entitled to all the privileges of the Association, except voting, comprise all those who have served in the capacity of delegates, and such other members as may have been elected by unanimous vote.

Meetings are held annually on the first Tuesday in May or June, the time and place being determined by vote.

The annual dues are five dollars, to be paid before taking a seat as delegate.

Permanent Secretary—William B. Atkinson, M.D., 1400 Pine Street, S. W. cor. Broad Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Physicians desiring to present papers before the Association, should observe the following rule :

“Papers appropriate to the several sections, in order to secure consideration and action, must be sent to the secretary of the appropriate section, at least one month before the meeting which is to act upon them. It shall be the duty of the secretary to whom such papers are sent, to examine them with care, and, with the advice of the chairman of his section, to determine the time and order of their presentation, and give due notice of the same.”

At the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Association, held at St. Louis, Mo., May 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th, 1873, the following amendment to the By-Laws was adopted :

XI.—Judicial Council.

A Council, consisting of twenty-one members, shall be appointed by the Nominating Committee, whose duty it shall be to take cognizance of and decide all questions of an ethical or judicial character that may arise in connection with the Association. Of the twenty-one members of the Council first appointed, the seven first named in the list shall hold office one year, and the second seven named shall hold office two years.

With these exceptions the term of office of members of the Council shall be three years, seven being appointed by the Nominating Committee annually.

The said Council shall organize by choosing a President and Secretary, and shall keep a permanent record of its proceedings. The decisions of said Council on all matters referred to it by the Association shall be final, and shall be reported to the Association at the earliest practicable moment.

All questions of a personal character, including complaints and protests, and all questions on credentials, shall be referred at once, after the report of the Committee of Arrangements or other presentation, to the Judicial Council, and without discussion.

In accordance with the provisions of this By-Law, the following persons were appointed :

Judicial Council.—Three years: Drs. W. Brodie, of Michigan; N. S. Davis, of Illinois; E. L. Howard, of Maryland; William O. Baldwin, of Alabama; H. W. Dean, of New York; J. P. Logan, of Georgia.*

* One vacancy.

Two years: Drs. L. S. Joynes, of Virginia; R. N. Todd, of Indiana; H. F. Askew, of Delaware; J. E. Morgan, of District of Columbia; Samuel Lilly, of New Jersey; S. N. Benham, of Pennsylvania; A. Dunlap, of Ohio.

One year: Drs. J. K. Bartlett, of Wisconsin; Edwin Powell, of Illinois; R. H. Gale, of Kentucky; S. Gratz Moses, of Missouri; J. C. Hughes, of Iowa; S. M. Bemiss, of Louisiana; J. R. Bronson, of Massachusetts.

The annual meeting for 1874 was held at Detroit, Michigan. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—W. K. Bowling, Tennessee.

Vice-Presidents—William Brodie, Michigan; J. J. Woodward, U. S. A.; H. W. Brown, Texas; H. D. Didama, New York.

Treasurer—Casper Wister, Pennsylvania.

Librarian—William Lee, District of Columbia.

Assistant Secretary—Will Walling, Louisville, Kentucky.

The Chairmen of Committees were appointed as follows:

Arrangements—Edward Richardson, Louisville.

Prize Essays—J. Ochterlooney, Kentucky.

Publication—F. G. Smith, Pennsylvania.

Necrology—S. C. Chew, Maryland.

John Morris, of Baltimore, was appointed a special committee on the use of pessaries, and John A. Ochterlooney, of Kentucky, a special committee on cystic degeneration of the kidneys.

The five sections were organized for the coming year as follows :

Practice of Medicine, Materia Medica and Physiology—Austin Flint, New York, Chairman, and J. K. Bartlett, Wisconsin, Secretary.

Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children—W. H. Byford, Illinois, Chairman, and S. C. Busey, District of Columbia, Secretary.

Surgery and Anatomy—E. M. Moore, Rochester, Chairman, and T. S. Latimer, Maryland, Secretary.

Medical Jurisprudence, Chemistry and Psychology—Jerome Cochrane, Alabama, Chairman, and G. A. Moses, Missouri, Secretary.

State Medicine and Public Hygiene—H. I. Bowditch, Massachusetts, Chairman, and H. B. Baker, Michigan, Secretary.

The new members of the Judicial Council, to serve for three years, are: J. K. Bartlett, Wisconsin; R. H. Gale, Kentucky; J. B. Johnson, Missouri; J. R. Bronson, Massachusetts; B. H. Catlin, Connecticut; Franklin Staples, Minnesota; W. T. Briggs, Tennessee. To fill a vacancy for two years, A. N. Tolley, South Carolina.

The next meeting was ordered to take place at Louisville, the first Tuesday in May.

CODE OF ETHICS

Of the American Medical Association, Adopted May, 1847.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS,
AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

ART. I.—Duties of physicians to their patients.

§ 1. A physician should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but his mind ought also to be imbued with the greatness of his mission, and the responsibility he habitually incurs in its discharge. Those obligations are the more deep and enduring, because there is no tribunal, other than his own conscience, to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect. Physicians should, therefore, minister to the sick with due impressions of the importance of their office; reflecting that the ease, the health, and the lives, of those committed to their charge, depend on their skill, attention, and fidelity. They should study, also, in their deportment, so to unite tenderness with firmness, and condescension with authority, as to inspire the minds of their patients with gratitude, respect, and confidence.

§ 2. Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention, steadiness, and humanity. Reasonable indulgence should be granted to the mental imbecility and caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy, when required by peculiar circumstances, should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted in their professional visits, should be used with discretion, and with the most scrupulous regard to fidelity and honor. The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional services; none of the privacies of personal and domestic life, no infirmity of disposition, or flaw of character, observed during professional attendance, should ever be divulged by the physician, except when he is imperatively required to do so. The force and necessity of this obligation are indeed so great, that professional men have, under certain circumstances, been protected in their observance of secrecy by courts of justice.

§ 3. Frequent visits to the sick are, in general, requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease—to meet promptly every change which may occur, and also tend to preserve the confidence of the patient. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give useless anxiety to the patient, tend to diminish the authority of the physician, and render him liable to be suspected of interested motives.

§ 4. A physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, because they savor of empiricism, by magnifying the importance of his services in the treatment or cure of the disease. But he should not fail, on proper occasions, to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger, when it really occurs; and even to the patient himself, if absolutely necessary. This office, however, is so peculiarly alarming when executed by him, that it ought to be declined, whenever it can be assigned to any other person of sufficient judgment and delicacy. For, the physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick; that by such cordials to the drooping spirit, he may smooth the bed of death, revive expiring life, and counteract the depressing influence of those maladies which often disturb the tranquility of the most resigned in their last moments. The life of a sick person can be shortened, not only by the acts, but also by the words or the manner of a physician. It is, therefore, a sacred duty to guard himself carefully in this respect, and to avoid all things which have a tendency to discourage the patient and depress his spirits.

§ 5. A physician ought not to abandon a patient because the case is deemed incurable; for his attendance may continue to be highly useful to the patient, and comforting to the relatives around him, even in the last period of a fatal malady, by alleviating pain and other symptoms, and by soothing mental anguish. To decline attendance, under such circumstances, would be sacrificing to fanciful delicacy and mistaken liberality, that moral duty, which is independent of, and far superior to, all pecuniary consideration.

§ 6. Consultations should be promoted in difficult or protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice.

§ 7. The opportunity which a physician not unfrequently enjoys, of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of his patients, suffering under the consequence of vicious conduct, ought never to be neglected. His counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be proffered with politeness, and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

ART. II.—Obligations of patients to their physicians.

§ 1. The members of the medical profession, upon whom is enjoined the performance of so many important and arduous duties towards the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease, and health, for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, certainly have a right to expect and require, that their patients should entertain a just sense of the duties which they owe to their medical attendants.

§ 2. The first duty of a patient, is to select, as his medical adviser, one who has received a regular professional education. In no trade or occupation, do mankind rely on the skill of an untaught artist; and in medicine, confessedly the most difficult and intricate of the sciences, the world ought not to suppose that knowledge is intuitive.

§ 3. Patients should prefer a physician whose habits of life are regular, and who is not devoted to company, pleasure, or to any pursuit incompatible with his professional obligations. A patient should, also, confide the care of himself and family, as much as possible, to one physician; for a medical man, who has become acquainted with the peculiarities of constitution, habits, and predispositions of those he attends, is more likely to be successful in his treatment, than one who does not possess that knowledge.

A patient who has thus selected his physician, should always apply for advice in what may appear to him trivial cases, for the most fatal results often supervene on the slightest accidents. It is of still more importance that he should apply for assistance in the forming stage of violent diseases; it is to a neglect of this precept that medicine owes much of the uncertainty and imperfection with which it has been reproached.

§ 4. Patients should faithfully and unreservedly communicate to their physician the supposed cause of their disease. This is the more important, as many diseases of a mental origin simulate those depending on external causes, and yet are only to be cured by ministering to the mind diseased. A patient should never be afraid of thus making his physician his friend and adviser; he should always bear in mind that a medical man is under the strongest obligations of secrecy. Even the female sex should never allow feelings of shame or delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat, symptoms, and causes of complaints peculiar to them. However commendable a modest reserve may be, in the common occurrences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with the most serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful and loathsome disease, which might have been readily prevented, had timely intimation been given to the physician.

§ 5. A patient should never weary his physician with a tedious detail of events or matters not appertaining to his disease. Even as relates to his actual symptoms, he will convey much more real information by giving clear answers to interrogatories, than by the most minute account of his own framing. Neither should he obtrude upon his physician the details of his business, nor the history of his family concerns.

§ 6. The obedience of a patient to the prescriptions of his physician should be prompt and implicit. He should never permit his own crude opinions as to their fitness to influence his attention to them. A failure in one particular, may render an otherwise judicious treatment dangerous, and even fatal. This remark is equally applicable to diet, drink, and exercise. As patients become convalescent, they are very apt to suppose that the rules prescribed for them may be disregarded, and the consequence, but too often, is a relapse. Patients should never allow themselves to be persuaded to take any medicine whatever, that may be recommended to them by the self-constituted doctors and doctresses, who are so frequently met with, and who pretend to possess infallible remedies for the cure of every disease. However simple some of their prescriptions may appear to be, it often happens that they are productive of much mischief, and in all cases they are injurious, by contravening the plan of treatment adopted by the physician.

§ 7. A patient should, if possible, avoid even the friendly visits of a physician who is not attending him—and when he does receive them, he should never converse on the subject of his disease, as an observation may be made, without any intention of interference, which may destroy his confidence in the course he is pursuing, and induce him to neglect the directions prescribed to him. A patient should never send for a consulting physician without the express consent of his own medical attendant. It is of great importance that physicians should act in concert; for although their modes of treatment may be attended with equal success when employed singly, yet conjointly they are very likely to be productive of disastrous results.

§ 8. When a patient wishes to dismiss his physician, justice and common courtesy require that he should declare his reasons for so doing.

§ 9. Patients should always, when practicable, send for their physician in the morning, before his usual hours for going out; for, by being early aware of the visits he has to pay during the day, the physician is able to apportion his time in such a manner as to prevent an interference of engagements. Patients should also avoid calling on their medical adviser unnecessarily during the hours devoted to meals or sleep. They should always be in readiness to receive the visits of their physician, as the detention of a few minutes is often a serious inconvenience to him.

§ 10. A patient should, after his recovery, entertain a just and enduring sense of the value of the services rendered him by his physician; for these are of such a character that no mere pecuniary acknowledgment can repay or cancel them.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER,
AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

ART. I.—Duties for the support of professional character.

§ 1. Every individual, on entering the profession, as he becomes thereby entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to exert his best abilities to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. He should, therefore, observe strictly, such laws as are instituted for the government of its members; should avoid all contumelious and sarcastic remarks relative to the faculty, as a body; and while, by unwearied diligence, he resorts to every honorable means of enriching the science, he should entertain a due respect for his seniors, who have, by their labors, brought it to the elevated condition in which he finds it.

§ 2. There is no profession, from the members of which greater purity of character, and a higher standard of moral excellence are required, than the medical; and to attain such eminence, is a duty every physician owes alike to his profession, and to his patients. It is due to the latter, as without it he cannot command their respect and confidence, and to both, because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles. It is also incumbent upon the faculty to be temperate in all things, for the practice of physic requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and on emergencies, for which no professional man should be unprepared, a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded head may be essential to the well-being, and even to the life, of a fellow-creature.

§ 3. It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements, or private cards, or handbills, inviting the attention of individuals affected with particular diseases—publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor gratis, or promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success; or to perform any other similar acts. These are the ordinary practices of empirics, and are highly reprehensible in a regular physician.

§ 4. Equally derogatory to professional character is it, for a physician to hold a patent for any surgical instrument or medicine; or to dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be the composition or exclusive property of himself or of others. For, if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is also reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of patent or secret medicines, or in any way to promote the use of them.

ART. II.—Professional services of physicians to each other.

§ 1. All practitioners of medicine, their wives, and their children while under the parental care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them, whose assistance may be required. A physician afflicted with disease, is usually an incompetent judge of his own case; and the natural anxiety and solicitude which he experiences at the sickness of a wife, a child, or any one who, by the ties of consanguinity, is rendered peculiarly dear to him, tend to obscure his judgment, and produce timidity and irresolution in his practice. Under such circumstances, medical men are peculiarly dependent upon each other, and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously, as such unasked civility may give rise to embarrassment, or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends. But, if a distant member of the faculty, whose circumstances are affluent, request attendance, and an honorarium be offered; it should not be declined, for no pecuniary obligation ought to be imposed, which the party receiving it would wish not to incur.

ART. III.—Of the duties of physicians as respects vicarious offices.

§ 1. The affairs of life, the pursuit of health, and the various accidents and contingencies to which a medical man is peculiarly exposed, sometimes require him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to officiate for him. Compliance with this request is an act of courtesy, which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period, all the pecuniary obligations for such service should be awarded to him. But if a member of the profession neglect his business in quest of pleasure and amusement, he cannot be considered as entitled to the advantages of the frequent and long-continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy, without awarding to the physician who officiates, the fees arising from the discharge of his professional duties.

In obstetrical and important surgical cases, which give rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety, and responsibility, it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should be awarded to the physician who officiates.

ART. IV.—Of the duties of physicians in regard to consultation.

§ 1. A regular medical education furnishes the only presumptive evidence of professional abilities and acquirements, and ought to be the only acknowledged right of an individual to the exercise and honors of his profession. Nevertheless, as in consultations, the good of the patient is the sole object in view, and this is often dependent on personal confidence, no intelligent regular practitioner, who has a license to practice from some medical board of known and acknowledged respectability recognized by this association, and who is in good moral and professional standing in the place in which he resides, should be fastidiously excluded from fellowship, or his aid refused in consultation, when it is requested by the patient. But no one can be considered as a regular practitioner, or a fit associate in consultation, whose practice is based upon an exclusive dogma, to the rejection of the accumulated experience of the profession, and of the aids actually furnished by anatomy, physiology, pathology, and organic chemistry.

§ 2. In consultations, no rivalry or jealousy should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised towards the physician having charge of the case.

§ 3. In consultations, the attending physician should be the first to propose the necessary questions to the sick; after which the consulting physician should have the opportunity to make such further inquiries of the patient as may be necessary to satisfy him of the true character of the case. Both physicians should then retire to a private place for deliberation, and the one first in attendance should communicate the directions agreed upon to the patient or his friends, as well as any opinions which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion of it should take place before the patient or his friends, except in presence of all the faculty attending, and by their common consent, and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

§ 4. In consultations, the physician in attendance should deliver his opinion first; and when there are several consulting, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called in. No decision, however, should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment, as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But such variation, and the reasons for it, ought to be carefully detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician, if he is sent for in an emergency, when the regular attendant is out of the way, and similar explanations must be made at the next consultation.

§ 5. The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultation together, and this is generally practicable, for society has been considerate enough to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence of all others, and to be an ample reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation. But, as professional engagements may sometimes interfere, and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives, should wait for his associate a reasonable period, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient and prescribe; but if it be the consulting one, he should retire, except in case of emergency, or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which latter case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion in writing and under seal, to be delivered to his associate.

§ 6. In consultations, theoretical discussions should be avoided, as occasioning perplexity and loss of time. For there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

§ 7. All discussions in consultations should be held as secret and confidential. Neither by words or manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or insinuate, that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent. The responsibility must be equally divided between the medical attendants—they must equally share the credit of success, as well as the blame of failure.

§ 8. Should any irreconcilable diversity of opinion occur when several physicians are called upon to consult together, the opinion of the majority should be considered as decisive; but if the numbers be equal on each side, then the decision should rest with the attending physician. It may, moreover, sometimes happen, that two physicians cannot agree in their views of the nature of a case, and the treatment to be pursued. This is a circumstance much to be deplored, and should always be avoided, if possible, by mutual concessions, as far as they can be justified by a conscientious regard for the dictates of judgment. But, in the event of its occurrence, a third physician should, if practicable, be called to act as umpire; and if circumstances prevent the adoption of this course, it must be left to the patient to select the physician in whom he is most willing to confide. But, as every physician relies on the rectitude of his judgment, he should, when left in the minority, politely and consistently retire from any further deliberation in the consultation, or participation in the management of the case.

§ 9. As circumstances sometimes occur to render a special consultation desirable when the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient, the member of the faculty whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future unsolicited attendance. As such consultations require an extraordinary portion both of time and attention, at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

§ 10. A physician who is called upon to consult, should observe the most honorable and scrupulous regard for the character and standing of the practitioner in attendance; the practice of the latter, if necessary, should be justified, as far as it can be, consistently with a conscientious regard for truth, and no hint or insinuation should be thrown out which could impair the confidence reposed in him, or affect his reputation. The consulting physician should also carefully refrain from any of those extraordinary attentions or assiduities, which are too often practiced by the dishonest for the base purpose of gaining applause, or ingratiating themselves into the favor of families and individuals.

ART. V.—Duties of physicians in cases of interference.

§ 1. Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should found their expectations of practice upon the extent of their qualifications, not on intrigue or artifice.

§ 2. A physician, in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another practitioner, should observe the strictest caution and reserve. No meddling inquiries should be made—no disingenuous hints given relative to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor any course of conduct pursued that may directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

§ 3. The same circumspection and reserve should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit an individual who is under the direction of another practitioner. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and, when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease, or the remedies employed, but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

§ 4. A physician ought not to take charge of or prescribe for a patient who has recently been under the care of another member of the faculty in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or been regularly notified that his services are no longer desired. Under such circumstances, no unjust and illiberal insinuations should be thrown out in relation to the conduct or practice previously pursued, which should be justified as far as candor and regard for truth and probity will permit; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they do not experience immediate relief, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the want of success, in the first stage of treatment, affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge and skill.

§ 5. When a physician is called to an urgent case, because the family attendant is not at hand, he ought, unless his assistance in consultation be desired, to resign the care of the patient to the latter immediately on his arrival.

§ 6. It often happens in cases of sudden illness, or of recent accidents and injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that a number of physicians are simultaneously sent for. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, who should select from those present, any additional assistance that he may deem necessary. In all such cases, however, the practitioner who officiates should request the family physician, if there be one, to be called, and unless his farther attendance be requested, should resign the case to the latter on his arrival.

§ 7. When a physician is called to the patient of another practitioner, in consequence of the sickness or absence of the latter, he ought, on the return or recovery of the regular attendant, and with the consent of the patient, to surrender the case.

[The expression, "Patient of another practitioner," is understood to mean a patient who may have been under the charge of another practitioner at the time of the attack of sickness, or departure from home of the latter, or who may have called for his attendance during his absence or sickness, or in any other manner given it to be understood that he regarded the said physician as his regular medical attendant.]

§ 8. A physician when visiting a sick person in the country, may be desired to see a neighboring patient, who is under the regular direction of another physician, in consequence of some sudden change or aggravation of symptoms. The conduct to be pursued on such an occasion, is to give advice adapted to present circumstances; to interfere no further than is absolutely necessary with the general plan of treatment; to assume no further direction, unless it be expressly desired; and, in this last case, to request an immediate consultation with the practitioner previously employed.

§ 9. A wealthy physician should not give advice gratis to the affluent; because his doing so is an injury to his professional brethren. The office of a physician can never be supported as an exclusively beneficent one; and it is defrauding, in some degree, the common funds for its support, when fees are dispensed with which might justly be claimed.

§ 10. When a physician who has been engaged to attend a case of midwifery is absent, and another is sent for, if delivery is accomplished during the attendance of the latter, he is entitled to the fee, but should resign the patient to the practitioner first engaged.

ART. VI.—Of differences between physicians.

§ 1. Diversity of opinion and opposition of interest, may, in the medical, as in other professions, sometimes occasion controversy, and even contention. Whenever such cases unfortunately occur, and cannot be immediately terminated, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of physicians, or a court-martial.

§ 2. As a peculiar reserve must be maintained by physicians, towards the public, in regard to professional matters, and as there exist numerous points in medical ethics and etiquette, through which the feelings of medical men may be painfully assailed in their intercourse with each other, and which cannot be understood or appreciated by general society, neither the subject-matter of such differences, nor the adjudication of the arbitrators, should be made public, as publicity in a case of this nature may be personally injurious to the individuals concerned, and can hardly fail to bring discredit upon the faculty.

ART. VII.—Of pecuniary acknowledgments.

Some general rules should be adopted by the faculty, in every town or district, relative to pecuniary acknowledgments from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

OF THE DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION TO THE PUBLIC,
AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF THE PUBLIC TO THE PROFESSION.

ART. I.—Duties of the profession to the public.

§ 1. As good citizens, it is the duty of physicians to be ever vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public, in relation to matters especially appertaining to their profession, as on subjects of medical police, public hygiene, and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations—the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions—in relation to the medical police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.—and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and, when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of suffering, even at the jeopardy of their own lives.

§ 2. Medical men should also be always ready, when called on by the legally constituted authorities, to enlighten coroners' inquests, and courts of justice, on subjects strictly medical—such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poisons or other violent means, and in regard to the various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. But in these cases, and especially where they are required to make post mortem examination, it is just, in consequence of the time, labor and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them a proper honorarium.

§ 3. There is no profession, by the members of which, eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed, than the medical, but justice requires that some limit should be placed to the performance of such good offices. Poverty, professional brotherhood, and certain of the public duties referred to in the first section of this article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, to perform militia duty, or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to individuals in indigent circumstances, such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

§ 4. It is the duty of physicians, who are frequent witnesses of the enormities committed by quackery, and the injury to health, and even destruction of life caused by the use of quack medicines, to enlighten the public on these subjects, to expose the injuries sustained by the unwary from the devices and pretensions of artful empirics and imposters. Physicians ought to use all the influence which they may possess, as professors in colleges of pharmacy, and by exercising their option in regard to the shops to which their prescriptions shall be sent, to discourage druggists and apothecaries from vending quack or secret medicines, or from being in any way engaged in their manufacture or sale.

ART. II.—Obligations of the public to physicians.

§ 1. The benefits accruing to the public, directly or indirectly, from the active and unwearied beneficence of the profession, are so numerous and important, that physicians are justly entitled to the utmost consideration and respect from the community. The public ought likewise to entertain a just appreciation of medical qualifications; to make a proper discrimination between true science and the assumptions of ignorance and empiricism—to afford every encouragement and facility for the acquisition of medical education—and no longer to allow the statute-books to exhibit the anomaly of exacting knowledge from physicians under a liability to heavy penalties, and of making them obnoxious to punishment for resorting to the only means of obtaining it.

American Ophthalmological Society.

Organized June, 1864.

Illinois State Medical Society.

Organized at Springfield, Illinois, June 4, 1850.

Next annual meeting to be held at Jacksonville on the third Tuesday in May, 1875.

CONSTITUTION.

WHEREAS, the Medical Convention held in the City of Springfield, in June, 1850, have declared it expedient "for the Medical Convention of the State of Illinois, to institute a State Medical Society;" and

Inasmuch as an institution so conducted as to give frequent, united, and emphatic expression to the views and aims of the medical profession in this State, must at all times have a beneficial influence, and supply more efficient means than have hitherto been available here, for cultivating and advancing medical knowledge ; for elevating the standard of medical education ; for promoting the usefulness, honor, and best interests of the medical profession ; for enlightening and directing public opinion in regard to the duties, responsibilities, and requirements of medical men ; for exciting and encouraging emulation and concert of action in the profession, and for facilitating and fostering friendly intercourse between those who are engaged in it ;—therefore,

Be it resolved, In behalf of the Medical Convention of the State of Illinois, that the members of the Medical Convention held in Springfield, June, 1850, and all others who, in pursuit of the objects above mentioned, are to unite with, or succeed them, constitute a State Medical Society ; and that for the organization and management of the same, they adopt the following Regulations :

I.—TITLE OF THE SOCIETY.

This Institution shall be known and distinguished by the name and title of “The Illinois State Medical Society.”

II.—MEMBERS.

The members of this Society shall collectively represent and have cognizance of the common interests of the medical profession in the State of Illinois ; and shall hold their appointment to membership, either as delegates from local institutions, as members by invitation, or as permanent members.

The Delegates shall receive their appointment from permanently organized medical societies, medical colleges, hospitals, lunatic asylums, and other permanently organized medical institutions of good standing in the State of Illinois. Each delegate shall hold his appointment for one year, and until another is appointed to succeed him, and shall participate in all the business and affairs of the Society.

Each local society shall have the privilege of sending to the Society one delegate for every five of its regular resident members, and one for every additional fraction of more than half of this number. The faculty of every regularly constituted medical college or chartered school of medicine, shall have the privilege of sending two delegates. The professional staff of every chartered or municipal hospital, and every other permanently organized medical institution of good standing, shall have the privilege of sending one delegate.

The Members by Invitation shall consist of practitioners of reputable standing from any part of the United States. They shall receive their appointment by invitation of the meeting, after an introduction from any of the members present, or from any of the absent permanent members. They shall hold their connection with the Society until the close of the session at which they were received; and may participate in the discussions, without the right of voting.

The Permanent Members shall consist of regular graduates from reputable schools of medicine, who have served in the capacity of delegates, or such other physicians as may be proposed by two members of this Society, reported on favorably by the Committee of Investigation, and receiving a two-thirds vote of all the members present.

Permanent members shall at all times be entitled to attend the meetings, and participate in the affairs of the Society, so long as they shall continue to conform to its regulations; and, when not in attendance, they shall be authorized to grant letters of introduction to reputable practitioners of medicine residing in their vicinity, who may wish to participate in the business of the meetings, as provided for members by invitation.

Every member elect, prior to the permanent organization of the annual meeting, or before voting on any question after the meeting has been organized, must sign these regulations, inscribing his name and address in full, specifying in what capacity he attends, and, if a delegate, the title of the institution from which he received the appointment.

III.—MEETINGS.

The annual meetings of the Society shall be held on the third Tuesday in May, of each year. The place of meeting shall never be the same for any two years in succession, and shall be determined for each next succeeding year by vote of the Society.

IV.—OFFICERS.

The officers of the Society shall be a President, two Vice-Presidents, one Permanent and one Assistant Secretary, and a Treasurer. They shall be nominated by a special committee of one member from each county represented at the meeting, and shall be elected by vote on a general ticket. The term of office of the President and Vice-Presidents shall commence at the opening of the next annual meeting after their election. Each officer shall hold his appointment for one year, and until another is elected to succeed him, except the Permanent Secretary, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Society.

The President shall preside at the meetings, preserve order and decorum in debate, give a casting vote when necessary, and perform all the other duties that custom and parliamentary usages may require, and deliver an address at the expiration of his term of office.

The Vice-Presidents, when called upon, shall assist the President in the performance of his duties, and during the absence, or at the request of the President, one of them shall officiate in his place.

The Permanent Secretary shall keep the records of the Society, give notice of the annual meetings, superintend the publication and distribution of the Transactions, and preserve the archives of the Society; and, when not able to attend any given meeting, shall furnish the Assistant with so much of the Records and papers as are necessary for the accommodation of that meeting, which, together with the proceedings of said meeting, shall be returned to him as soon as practicable after the adjournment of the same.

The Assistant Secretary shall be appointed annually, located at the place for holding the next annual meeting. He shall aid the Permanent Secretary in keeping the Records of the Society, and constitute a member of the Committee on Arrangements.

The Treasurer shall have the immediate charge and management of the funds and property of the Society. He shall be a member of the Committee on Publication, to which committee he shall give bonds for the safe keeping, and proper use and disposal of his trust. And through the same committee he shall present his accounts, duly authenticated, at every regular meeting; shall report to the Publishing Committee, at the close of each annual meeting, the names of all those members who have been present at any one or more of the annual meetings during the five preceding years; or who have paid one or more annual assessments during that time; or have reported physical disability, preventing attendance at said meetings. And that only the names so reported be published in the Transactions for that year. Shall communicate each year with all the members whose names appear in the Transactions, who have not paid their annual dues, and solicit payment of the same.

V.—STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following Standing Committees, each composed of three members, shall be organized at every annual meeting, for preparing, arranging, and expediting business for each next ensuing year, and for carrying into effect the orders of the Association not otherwise assigned—namely, a Committee on Arrangements, a Committee on Practical Medicine, a Committee on Surgery, a Committee on Obstetrics, a Committee on Drugs and Medicines, a Committee on Necrology, a Committee on Publication, and a Committee on Investigation, or Board of Censors, to consist of five members.

The Committee on Arrangements shall, if no sufficient reasons prevent, be mainly composed of members residing in the place at which the Society is to hold its next annual meeting; and shall be required to provide suitable accommodations for the meeting, to verify and report upon the credentials of membership, to receive and announce all essays and memoirs voluntarily communicated, either by members of the Society, or by others through them, and to determine the order in which such papers are to be read and considered.

The Committee on Practical Medicine shall prepare an annual report on the more important improvements effected in this State in the management of individual diseases, and on the progress of epidemics; referring, as occasion requires, to medical topography, and to the character of prevailing diseases in special localities, during the term of their service.

The Committee on Surgery shall prepare an annual report on all the important improvements in the management of surgical diseases effected in Illinois during the year.

The Committee on Obstetrics shall prepare an annual report on all the improvements in the obstetric art, and in the management of diseases peculiar to women and children, effected in Illinois, and collect statistics during the year.

The Committee on Drugs and Medicines shall prepare an annual report on all improvements and discoveries in pharmacy and materia medica, effected during the year, and on all subjects connected with the sophistication and sale of drugs and medicines.

The Committee on Necrology shall report annually, brief biographical notices of deceased members, and preserve statistical and other memorial records of its deceased members.

The Committee of Investigation, or Board of Censors, shall investigate all charges made against any member of this Society, and entitled to representation in it; to investigate the status of all applicants for membership in our organization; and perform such other duties as are usually required of such a committee.

The Committee on Publication, composed of the Secretaries and Treasurer, shall have charge of preparing for the press, and of publishing and distributing such of the proceedings, transactions, and memoirs of the Society, as may be ordered to be published. The members of this Committee, who have not the management of the funds, shall also in their own names, as agents for the Society, hold the bond of the Treasurer, for the faithful execution of his office, and shall annually audit and authenticate his accounts, and present a statement of the same in the annual report of the Committee, which report shall also specify the character and cost of the publications of the Society during the year, the number of copies still at the disposal of the meeting, the funds on hand for further operations, and the probable amount of the assessment to be laid on each member of the Society, for covering its annual expenditures.

VI.—FUNDS AND APPROPRIATIONS.

Funds shall be raised by the Society for meeting its current expenses and awards from year to year; but never with the view of creating a permanent income from investments. Funds may be obtained by an equal assessment upon each of the members; by individual voluntary contributions for specified objects; and by the sale and disposal of publications or of works prepared for publication.

The funds may be appropriated for defraying the expenses of the annual meetings; for publishing the proceedings, memoirs, and transactions of the Society; for enabling the standing committees to fulfill their respective duties, conduct their correspondence, and procure the materials necessary for the completion of their stated annual reports; for the encouragement of scientific investigations, by prizes and awards of merit; and for defraying the expenses incidental to scientific investigations under the instructions of the Society, where such investigations have been accompanied with an order on the Treasurer to supply the funds necessary for carrying them into effect.

VII.—PROVISIONS FOR AMENDMENTS.

No amendment or alteration shall be made in any of these articles, except at the annual meeting next subsequent to that at which such amendment or alteration may have been proposed; and then only by the voice of three-fourths of all the members in attendance.

And, in acknowledgment of having adopted the foregoing propositions, and of our willingness to abide by them, and use our endeavors to carry into effect the objects of this Society, as above set forth, we have hereunto affixed our names.

Chicago Society of Physicians and Surgeons.

Organized April 22, 1872.

Meets at the Grand Pacific Hotel, on the second and fourth Mondays of every month.

The great Chicago fire of 1871 necessitated a change in the location of many of the physicians of the city. A large proportion of those whose residences and offices had been destroyed resorted to the Western Division of the city, while others sought a temporary place of business in the Southern District, and especially in the neighborhood of Twenty-second street, which was suddenly transformed into an important channel of business.

This separation of the members of the profession into two bodies, which were almost isolated, the one from the other, was the immediate cause of the organization of the Chicago Society of Physicians and Surgeons. Some of the physicians who found themselves thus suddenly and unexpectedly congregated in one quarter of the city, desired to avail themselves of the opportunities for mutual improvement afforded by a medical society, without the necessity of visiting the almost uninhabited Burnt District, in order to attend meetings. Notices of a meeting to be held, with this object in view, appeared in the public papers April 18, 1872, in response to which eleven physicians assembled at No. 125 Twenty-second street, April 22, 1872. The organization contemplated was effected at an adjourned meeting, held on the 29th of the same month, and immediately thereafter the parlors of the Chicago Orphan Asylum were secured as a place of meeting.

The Society continued to enjoy an unusual degree of prosperity up to Nov. 10, 1873. At that time its membership list contained about thirty-eight names, and the average attendance upon its meetings had risen to eighteen. Business had commenced to return to its old channels in the restored portion of the city at that date; many physicians had reopened their offices upon, or near, the former sites, and the meetings of the Chicago Medical Society were held in the Western Division. Under these circumstances, it seemed desirable for the junior association to meet in a more central location. Accordingly the Grand Pacific Hotel was selected as a rendezvous, and the meetings of the society have been held at that place ever since.

The records of the transactions of each meeting appear, at fixed intervals, in the pages of the Chicago Medical Journal and the Chicago Medical Examiner, and all important or interesting papers presented are published in full in the same journals.

PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATIONS.

American Pharmaceutical Association.

Organised September, 1852.

The objects of the Association are to unite the educated and reputable pharmacutists and druggists of the United States in the following objects:

"1. To improve and regulate the drug market, by preventing the importation of inferior, adulterated or deteriorated drugs, and by detecting and exposing home adulteration.

"2. To encourage proper relations between druggists, pharmacutists, physicians, and the people at large, which shall promote the public welfare, and tend to mutual strength and advantage.

"3. To improve the science and art of pharmacy by diffusing scientific knowledge among apothecaries and druggists, fostering pharmaceutical literature, developing talent, stimulating discovery and invention, and encouraging home production and manufacture in the several departments of the drug business.

" 4. To regulate the system of apprenticeship and employment, so as to prevent, as far as practicable, the evils flowing from deficient training in the responsible duties of preparing, dispensing and selling medicines.

" 5. To suppress empiricism, and to restrict the dispensing and sale of medicines to regularly educated druggists and apothecaries.

" 6. To uphold standards of authority in the education, theory and practice of pharmacy.

" 7. To create and maintain a standard of professional honesty, equal to the amount of our professional knowledge, with a view to the highest good and greatest protection to the public."

Every pharmacist and druggist of good moral and professional standing, whether in business on his own account, retired from business, or employed by another, and those teachers of pharmacy, chemistry and botany who may be specially interested in pharmacy and materia medica, are eligible to membership.

The meeting of 1874 was held at Louisville, Ky., September 8th. The next meeting will be held at Boston, Mass., on Tuesday, September 7th, 1875.

The Chicago College of Pharmacy.

No. 77 Dearborn Street.

Chartered September 5, 1859.

Its aims are the advancement of the science and the art of Pharmacy, by diffusing scientific knowledge among pharmacists, fostering pharmaceutical literature, encouraging a school of Pharmacy, and all other means for promoting education.

The business meetings of the College are an annual meeting on the first Wednesday in March, and a semi-annual meeting on the first Wednesday in September. The pharmaceutical meetings occur on the second Wednesday of each month, from October to April inclusive, and are devoted exclusively to scientific business.

The members are of four classes—active, associate, honorary and life.

Active and life members have all the privileges of the institution; associate members have all the privileges of active members, except holding office, voting, and obtaining certificate of membership; honorary members are elected from contributors to science, and pay no fee.

The initiation fee is, for active members, $10, and the annual dues are $10.

Any person eligible may become a life member on payment of $100.

Associate members pay $5 annual dues.

Under the supervision of a Publishing Committee, the college publishes The Pharmacist, a monthly journal of Pharmacy, Chemistry and the Collateral Sciences.

This Journal is published as an exponent of the condition and needs of Western Pharmacy, and in the interest of a higher grade of education, and the consequent elevation of the profession.

(For an account of the College as an educational institution, see section devoted to Colleges.)

DENTAL ASSOCIATIONS.

American Dental Association.

Organised at Niagara Falls in 1859.

Meets annually, on the first Tuesday in August.

It is made up of three classes of members, viz: delegates, permanent, and honorary members; the two former classes having equal rights and privileges, except eligibility to office—none being eligible to hold office except permanent members; the latter class to consist of prominent, worthy members of the dental profession, residing in foreign countries, who shall be elected by ballot.

Local dental societies have the right to send one delegate for every five of its active members. Any person, on serving one year as delegate, may become a permanent member.

The annual dues are $5.00. If this remains unpaid two years, the name of the delinquent is dropped from the roll.

The details of business are in the hands of an Executive Committee of nine members, divided into three sub-committees on Arrangements, Credentials and Auditing, and Nominations and Volunteer Essays, respectively. Besides these there are standing committees on the following subjects: Physiology, Dental Pathology and Surgery, Dental Histology and Microscopy, Dental Chemistry, Dental Therapeutics, Operative Dentistry, Mechanical Dentistry, Dental Education, Dental Literature, Dental Etiology, Prize Essays.

The Thirteenth Annual Session of the Association was held at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, commencing August 5, 1873. The meeting for 1874 will be held at Detroit, Michigan.

Illinois State Dental Society.

Organized at Chicago in 1865.

Its objects are "to cultivate the science and art of dentistry, and all its collateral branches; to elevate and sustain the professional character of dentists, and to promote among them mutual improvement, social intercourse and good will."

It is organized with permanent membership only, not delegates. Members are divided into active, honorary and corresponding.

The requirements for active membership are as follows: the candidate must be a resident in the State, be twenty-one years of age and of good moral character, must possess a diploma from a respectable medical or dental college, or have had three years of practice in dentistry. Candidates are proposed at the regular meetings by two members in writing; the name is then referred to the executive committee, which committee examines the candidate as to qualifications, and reports at the same meeting. A two-thirds vote of members present is necessary for election. Signing the constitution and paying the initiation fee entitles the newly elected candidate to all the privileges of membership.

The initiation fee is $3.00, and annual dues $4.00.

Honorary members consist of practitioners of dentistry who have honorably retired from practice; of practitioners of medicine and surgery ; or others who have made valuable contributions to the science of dentistry.

Corresponding members consist of practitioners of dentistry or medicine residing in this or other States of the Union, or in foreign countries, who manifest a disposition to advance the science and art of the profession by contributing to its literature.

Corresponding and honorary members are entitled to seats in meetings of the society, and have the privilege of debating all questions not involving pecuniary expense.

The society meets annually on the second Tuesday in May, at the place selected at the previous annual meeting. The meeting for 1875 is to be at Ottawa.

The Society publishes its transactions in pamphlet form annually. This publication is distributed to all the dentists of this and adjoining States, irrespective of membership—as a “missionary tract,” and at the expense of the society.

The Chicago Dental Society.

Organized January 16, 1864.

The objects of the society are to promote harmony and friendly feeling among the dental profession in the city; to stimulate the profession to greater study and improvement, by means of meetings, the reading of essays and reports of cases, and general discussion of these and all subjects of interest to the members, in their capacity as dentists. The society meets on the first Monday of each month, at the dental depot of S. S. White, 14 and 16 Madison street.

It requires a two-thirds vote to admit a candidate to membership in the society, and he must have made application in writing, his application being countersigned by at least two members, before a vote can be taken.

The initiation fee is $5, and the annual dues are determined by the expenses of the organization which are not great.

HOSPITALS

OF CHICAGO, UNLESS OTHERWISE DESIGNATED.

The Alexian Brothers' Hospital.

North Market Street, between Schiller and North Avenue.

Founded 1866. Chartered March 29, 1867.

The present hospital building, which was commenced early in the spring of 1872, has been finished at a cost of $75,000. It contains sixty rooms, exclusive of dormitory, chapel and offices, and will comfortably accommodate 200 patients, but in case of necessity a much larger number could find room.

The apartments are arranged in ward form for free patients; and patients who pay can have rooms single or en suite. The scale of prices for the latter class varies from $7 to $15 per week, according to accommodation.

Four rooms are reserved in the basement for delirium tremens cases.

Several other apartments in the basement are reserved for the use of extra or special cases.

The private apartments are situated on the first and second floors, as are the main public wards.

Patients are cared for and waited upon solely by the order of Alexian Brothers—twenty in number—whose dormitory is situated in the upper story of the building.

The hospital is under the chief control of Brother Superior Paulus, head of the Alexian order in the United States. Application to him at any hour of the day or night, is the only step necessary for the admission of a patient. No contagious diseases are treated. Religion and nationality are not inquired into. No female patients are taken, unless in extreme cases, such as accident near the institution. They are then removed as soon as possible.

The number of patients treated at this institution since its establishment is about 2,000. The money for the support of the hospital is raised by collection among the Catholic community.

Chicago Hospital for Women and Children.

N. W. Corner Adams and Paulina Streets.

Established May, 1865.

This Institution, which has a capacity of about thirty-five beds, cares for lying-in cases, and takes cases of all diseases of women and children, except such as are contagious.

Its internal management, and its support so far as its current expenses are concerned, are the work of a board of ladies known as the BOARD OF COUNCILLORS.

Patients who are able are required to pay, the amount depending on the accommodations given, but the average is $6 per week. Four-fifths of all the patients treated have been charity cases, and to the extent of its ability, it will continue to receive such cases.

The Chicago Relief and Aid Society has endowed twenty-five beds in this institution.

Patients are admitted by the Physician.

During the Sessions of the Woman's Hospital Medical College there are given two Clinics each week in the wards of the hospital, to which students of the school are admitted.

A Free Dispensary, open every day, except Sunday, from 1 to 2 o'clock, is attached to the hospital.

Cook County Hospital.

Corner Eighteenth and Arnold Streets.

Organized in 1865, by the Board of Supervisors of Cook County.

It is under the control of the Board of County Commissioners, through a committee known as the Hospital Committee.

The capacity of this hospital is about 250 patients, in the general wards.

Free patients are admitted by making application to the County Agent, Mr. John Dieden, 29 Canal street, who causes them to be seen by one of the Dispensary physicians, and if found worthy, the latter gives the patient a certificate to that effect, which is presented to the agent, who issues the order to the Warden for admission.

Cases of emergency, arising from accidents or otherwise, are admitted by making application directly to the Warden at the hospital. Urgent cases under the care of any member of the Medical Board, may be admitted on the order of said member.

Board and treatment are gratuitous to the sick poor of Cook county only. Price of board and treatment for pay patients and non-residents, seven dollars per week, in general wards, and ten dollars per week in private wards.

No contagious diseases are admitted.

Clinics are given from October 1st to July 1st of each year, as follows :

Tuesdays, 2 to 4 P. M., Medical and Surgical.

Wednesdays, 2 to 4 P. M., Gynæcological and Ophthalmological.

Fridays, 2 to 4 P. M., Medical and Surgical.

Mercy Hospital.

Cor. Calumet Ave. and Twenty-sixth Street.

Founded Sept., 1850.

This institution is under the charge of the Sisters of Mercy. The hospital building is a handsome brick structure; was erected about five years ago, at a cost of $100,000, and will accommodate about 500 patients. It is a general hospital, admitting almost all diseases except small-pox. Although the entire pecuniary and domestic management of the institution is under the control of the Sisters of Mercy, in the admission and treatment of patients there is no distinction made on account of religious faith, and every patient is permitted to receive visits from clergymen of any religious denomination.

Terms of admission vary with the accommodations. In the larger, or what are called the public wards, the price is $7.00 per week; and in the private rooms, of which there are a large number, the price is $15.00 per week. There are constantly in the hospital a considerable number of patients who pay nothing, they being kept as charity patients. The institution has also an arrangement with the Chicago Relief and Aid Society, by which forty beds are kept at the disposal of that society for the accommodation of such sick poor as its officers may desire to send there.

The managing head of the hospital is Rev. Mother Genevieve.

The appointment of the Staff is under the control of the Faculty of the Chicago Medical College. The hospital has an average of about 250 patients constantly, and furnishes complete clinical facilities to students.

St. Joseph's Hospital.

Cor. Sophia and Burling Sts.

Organized June 12, 1869.

This hospital is under the control and management of the Sisters of Charity.

It receives the sick of every race and creed ; and only rejects contagious diseases. The Chicago Relief and Aid Society, by virtue of an endowment, have the right to keep in the hospital thirty patients. Admittance to these beds may be gained by applying to the Society.

Patients who are able to pay are required to do so.

The terms range as follows :

First-class private rooms are $10.00 per week, extra charges being made for medical attendance, medicines, liquors, washing, etc. Patients who occupy these rooms are at liberty to employ their own physician ; and physicians who send their patients to these apartments retain the full benefit of their practice.

The second-class rooms are also $10.00 per week, which includes doctor's fee, medicines, etc.

In the General Ward the cost is $6.00 per week, including all necessities.

All patients, at their entrance, are required to deposit two weeks' payment in advance. Should the patient leave before that time expires, the balance is refunded. The first week is charged in full, whether the patient remains the entire week or not. After the first week the charges are made by the day. If patients remain longer than two weeks, they are required to pay one week at a time in advance.

The hospital building has 100 beds, 18 rooms, and 9 wards. It is constructed according to approved plans for such a structure, and is altogether a very completely-appointed hospital.

St. Luke's Hospital.

Indiana Avenue, near Fourteenth Street.

Established in 1863. Chartered in 1864.

This hospital is under the patronage of the Protestant Episcopal Church, but is not sectarian in its work in any sense. It is a free hospital, receiving very little of its support in fees from patients, and only from such as are able and willing to pay.

The hospital property is vested in a Board of Trustees, consisting of a President, Secretary, Treasurer, and nine members—three from each division of the city, one of each three being a rector of a city parish.

The management of the hospital is conducted by a Board of Directors, composed of ladies.

The Chicago Relief and Aid Society, by virtue of an endowment of $28,000, has the right to occupy twenty-eight beds.

St. Luke's Free Dispensary is connected with the hospital, and is open daily.

The hospital has room for fifty beds.

A permanent site has been purchased on the corner of State and Thirty-sixth streets, where a building will eventually be erected specially for hospital purposes.

During the year ending September 1st, 1873, there were admitted into the hospital 243 patients.

Patients are admitted to the different departments by the members of the Medical Board having charge of such department. Cases of accident or great urgency are admitted at once, on application by the resident physician.

The New United States Marine Hospital at Lake View, Chicago.

The grounds contain ten acres of land. The location is a fine one, commanding a magnificent view lakeward, and from the upper windows a fine expanse of inland prospect. Work was commenced on Sept. 18th, 1867, and has been faithfully and satisfactorily hastened to a prompt conclusion.

The building is of Joliet stone, the main building in the centre being four stories in height, and the long wings for the wards, running north and south, being three stories in height, with a basement under the whole. The foundation walls are three feet six inches in thickness, grading to two feet at the upper story. The dimensions of the main building are 94 feet 4 inches, north and south, by 57 feet 8 inches, east and west, while the total length, including wings, is 340 feet 3 inches.

The appearance of the edifice as a whole is not unattractive. On the west side the main entrance may be approached by a stone stairway, with a neat covered piazza, while at either end is a substantial stone portico and verandah. A Mansard roof surmounts the central building, while that of the wings is more nearly flat, and filled with small windows for ventilation. The division of the interior space appears to be conducive to convenience and comfort. The basement contains the kitchen, diet-kitchen, bakery, pastry-rooms, and a multitude of store-rooms, all with water-tight cement floors.

The first floor contains the reception-room and dispensary, and steward's room. The second floor is occupied by the large dining-hall, 20 by 56 feet, connecting with the kitchen by a dumb waiter, officers' dining-room, and matron's room. The third floor contains the library and reading-room, and nurses' chambers. On the fourth floor are four wards for malignant diseases, a dissecting-room, and a "dead-room." The wards occupy the three floors of both wings, and afford accommodations for 300 patients. Connecting with these are rooms for the nurses, while at the extreme ends, on either floor, is a lavatory, with all conveniences for bathing, and closets. The essentials of heat, light, and ventilation have all received ample attention. The former is effected by pipes for steam; the windows afford plenty of sunshine, and the interior illumination is by gas, manufactured on the grounds; while for the removal of foul air and the furnishing of fresh, numerous excellent appliances have been introduced. For hot weather the building is so arranged as to admit of opening doors through the entire length of the building. As preventives against fire, the floors are all fire-proof, while for protection there are fire-plugs, with six tanks in the roof, of 900 gallons capacity each.

As a further protection, the main engine is in a small building by itself, from 200 to 300 feet removed, and from this is furnished hot and cold water, and here also is the laundry. Another engine in the hospital furnishes motive power for the passenger elevator, which communicates with the several floors.

The total cost of the Lake View Marine Hospital, according to figures furnished by Mr. Rankin, is $371,132.16.

The design of the institution is to furnish a comfortable home for all sick or diseased sailors, without charge. For the support of this and other similar hospitals, located in various sections of the country, an act of Congress authorizes the Collector of Customs at the ports of the United States to collect from the masters or owners of each vessel of the United States, arriving from a foreign port, or registered vessels employed in the coasting trade, the sum of forty cents per month for each and every seaman who shall have been employed on said vessel since she was last entered at any port of, the United States, which sum the master or owner is authorized to collect and retain from the wages of said employes.

The medical and surgical department is under the charge of a supervising surgeon, who is appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury to act under his direction as supervising surgeon of the Marine Hospital Service.

A seaman, to be entitled to relief from the marine hospital fund, must have served on a registered or licensed vessel of the United States for at least three months just previous to his application for aid, and must have paid hospital dues for that period.

To obtain relief, a sick or disabled seaman must apply to a collector or surveyor of customs, and furnish satisfactory evidence that he is entitled to such relief.

Woman's Hospital of the State of Illinois.

No. 229 Thirdieth Street, Chicago.

Chartered Sept. 1, 1871.

This is a special hospital, devoted to the care and treatment of the diseases and accidents peculiar to women. Patients are received irrespective of creed, color, or condition in life. No cases of general disease are received, nor any of a contagious character.

It is under the charge of a Board of Governors, a Board of Lady Supervisors, and a Medical Board.

It has a capacity for twelve patients.

Its rooms are well furnished, and some of them fitted up specially for paying patients.

Patients who are able to do so are required to pay from seven to fifteen dollars per week, this charge covering board, nursing, and medical attendance. Those who are unable to pay are received and treated gratuitously.

The "Woman's Dispensary" is attached to the institution.

Applications for admission, or for pamphlets containing full particulars, may be made either in person or by letter to the Resident Physician at the Hospital.

The Small-Pox Hospital of the City of Chicago.

Cor. California Ave. and Twenty-sixth Street.

Built October, 1873.

It is under the professional care of the City Physician.

Patients are sent to the hospital by order of the Board of Health. In cases where the disease is well marked and decided, or where it is necessary to check the spread of contagion, patients may be admitted without an order from the Board.

Physician in Charge.

William P. Dunne, City Physician for 1873-4.

The Davis Free Dispensary.

At the Mercy Hospital.

Founded September, 1870.

This Dispensary, although occupying rooms in the Mercy Hospital building, is an independent institution.

It was opened for the reception of patients in September, 1870, in accordance with the terms of an endowment of $3,000, made by Dr. N. S. Davis, the interest derived from which, was to be used perpetually for supplying the medicines needed for the sick poor.

It became an incorporated institution March 15, 1873, with Drs. E. Andrews, Wm. H. Byford and Daniel T. Nelson as Trustees. In May, 1873, the Chicago Relief and Aid Society stopped its direct assistance to the support of the dispensary, and contributed $3,000 towards its permanent endowment. In June of the same year, Dr. William H. Byford gave $3,000 to the dispensary, making in all a total endowment of nine thousand dollars, the interest of which alone can be used for the support of the dispensary—a sum hardly sufficient for medicines alone, as there are now nearly ten thousand patients annually coming to this dispensary for treatment.

The dispensary is now divided into the following departments :

1. Medical; 2, Surgical; 3, Diseases of the Chest; 4, Gynæcological; 5, Ophthalmic; 6, Skin Diseases.

Clinics are given daily in each department, and physicians and students are always welcome.

Organized May 15, 1873.

This institution was opened July 1, 1873. It is free to all, and all classes of diseases are treated. Open from 11 A. M. to 1 P. M. daily, except Sundays. No patients are visited.

The financial affairs of the institution are managed by a Board of Trustees, while the medical department is under the control of a Board of Medical Directors.

The Chicago Relief and Aid Society has donated to the dispensary the sum of $5,000, to be a permanent fund, the interest of which only can be expended. In addition to this, the dispensary has also received $150 from the German Aid Society, and $300 from the Hebrew Relief Association.

The Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Formerly CHICAGO CHARITABLE EYE AND EAR INFIRMARY.

137 North Morgan Street. (After Nov. 1, 1874, N. W. cor. of W. Adams and Peoria Streets.)

Founded in 1858. Chartered in 1865.

The object of this Infirmary is to provide, free of charge, medical and surgical treatment for the poor suffering from diseases of the eye or ear. As far as the funds of the institution will admit, poor patients are received and supported without charge.

Form of certificate which will admit any poor patient residing in Illinois to the infirmary, for gratuitous treatment and board :

"This is to Certify, that — —, of the town of — —, County of — —, State of Illinois, is absolutely without means to pay for his (or her) board or treatment at the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary."

Form of certificate which will admit any poor patient to the infirmary for gratuitous treatment :

"This is to Certify, that — —, of the town of — —, County of — —, State of — —, is in indigent circumstances, and can pay his (or her) board alone, but not for treatment, at the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary."

Either form of certificate must be signed by some respectable physician, or supervisor, or clerk of the County Court where the patient resides.

In connection with the infirmary is a dispensary for the poor of the city.

Since the opening of the institution, nearly sixteen years ago, 10,200 poor patients have received gratuitous treatment. The average number annually for several years has been 1,000.

The infirmary offers opportunities for the clinical study of diseases of the eye and ear. The clinics are given regularly during the college term, and are open to the students of the various medical colleges of the city.

The institution has been, from the beginning, under the direction of a Board of Trustees. For the want of means during the first six years, the efforts of the surgeons were confined to dispensary work. At the end of this time the infirmary came into possession of an excellent building, which was finally most conveniently furnished, and supplied with all that was necessary for the comfort of the patients.

This building, with all its appliances, valued at $18,000, was totally destroyed by the fire of October 9th, 1871.

The new building, a large and commodious structure, on the N. W. corner of W. Adams and Peoria streets, will probably be ready for occupancy as early as Nov. 1, 1874.

The surgeons' visits are from 2 to 3 P. M. daily, except on Sunday.

Woman's Hospital Medical College of Chicago.

Cor. of W. Adams and Paulina Streets.

Established 1870.

The regular annual Lecture Term commences on the first Tuesday in October, and continues twenty weeks.

There are six lectures delivered daily in the didactic course.

The instruction is divided into Junior and Senior Courses.

The Junior Course embraces Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Hygiene, and Dissections.

The Senior Course embraces the following branches, viz: Pathology, Practice of Medicine, Surgery, Ophthalmology and Otology, Obstetrics, Diseases of Women and Children, and Clinical instruction.

Students commencing their attendance upon lectures are advised to enter the Junior class—devoting their time exclusively to its branches during the first session, and to those of the Senior class during the second session.

At the close of the regular session, the students of the Junior class are examined in the branches of the Junior for admission to the Senior Course.

The Spring Term, consisting of recitations and instruction at the College, clinical instruction and operations at the Cook County Hospital, and Woman's and Children's Hospital, is free to all Matriculants of the College. While this session forms no part of the regular course, students are advised to attend. This term commences about April 1, and continues twelve weeks.

There are in the didactic instruction of this course three lectures daily.

During the regular session three clinical lectures each week are delivered in the Hospital for Women and Children, to which women only are admitted. The hospital also has large dispensary advantages, of which students may avail themselves. Six clinical lectures are delivered every week at the County Hospital, to all of which the students of the College are admitted.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION.

Every candidate for graduation must show: That she has studied medicine three full years; that she has attended two full courses of lectures, one of which has been in this institution, and passed a satisfactory examination by the Faculty; that she has dissected one term at least, and attended hospital clinics; that she is twenty-one years of age, and of good moral character. She is required to write a thesis.

FEEES.

Fees for lecture term	$50.00
Matriculation fee	5.00
Dissecting ticket	5.00
Cook County Hospital ticket	5.00
Graduating fee	20.00
Woman's Hospital fee	5.00

Northern Illinois Hospital for the Insane, Elgin, Illinois.

This institution was established by an act of the Legislature, bearing date April 16, 1869, entitled, "An Act to establish the Northern Illinois Hospital and Asylum for the Insane."

In June, 1870, the location was fixed, about one and a half miles south of the city of Elgin, on the west bank of Fox river.

The farm connected with the asylum contains over 400 acres. Fox river forms its eastern boundary line, from which it gradually ascends to the west, and is surrounded with the most delightful scenery.

The north wing of this institution was completed and opened for the reception of patients in April, 1872, and is capable of accommodating some 210 patients, exclusive of employees.

An appropriation for completing the building in accordance with the original plans was granted by the legislature in the spring of 1873, and work commenced on the centre building and south wing during the following summer.

† The centre building is now completed and occupied, and it is expected that the new wing will be ready for occupancy by September, 1874, when the capacity of the institution will be doubled.

Number of insane in the State is 2,500 to 3,000, and the capacity of the three State Asylums is less than 1,100.

For further information address the Medical Superintendent, and see "Abstract of Laws" concerning the commitment of the insane, in another section.

Cook County Insane Asylum.

Located at Jefferson.

Under the direction of the Board of County Commissioners.

This institution is intended for the poor of Cook county, principally chronic cases, such as every county in the State is obliged by law to care for.

The Asylum is in charge of a competent physician, and the cases are treated and cared for as they are in any well-regulated insane asylum.

The building will accommodate properly two hundred inmates.

To get a patient admitted to the Asylum he is brought before the County Court, after having been examined by the County Physician, where, if it is proved before a jury that he is both insane and a pauper, the County Agent is directed to take him to the Asylum.

Bellevue Place.

Bellevue Place is arranged and fitted with special reference to the care and treatment of the insane, and is designed to combine the comforts of a rural, quiet home, with such treatment as ample experience and able council can suggest.

It is located in the town of Batavia, Illinois, near the Fox river, thirty-five miles west from Chicago. It is accessible by the Dixon Branch of the Northwestern Railroad, via Junction Station, and by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, via Aurora.

Bellevue Place is under the immediate medical care of R. J. Patterson, M. D., formerly Medical Superintendent of the Indiana State Hospital for the Insane, late Medical Superintendent of the Iowa State Hospital for the Insane, and Professor of Medical Jurisprudence in the Chicago Medical College. CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

Department of Public Charities of Illinois.

The Board of Public Charities consists of five Commissioners appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice of the Senate, one-fifth of the Board being changed each year.

The duties of the Board are, to visit and examine, at least twice in each year, all the charitable and correctional institutions of the State (excepting prisons) receiving State aid, and ascertain whether the moneys appropriated for their aid are, or have been, economically and judiciously expended; whether the objects of the institution are accomplished, the laws regarding them complied with, and all parts of the State equally benefited by said institutions.

They are obliged to report in writing to the Governor, by the 15th December annually, the result of their investigations, with such recommendations as they deem necessary.

They are required to investigate annually the condition of every county and city alms house and place where the insane are kept, and investigate any alleged abuse they may be directed to by the Governor, and render a report thereof in writing.

They investigate the needs of any charitable institution asking any, or additional, State aid, as to the advisability of rendering it, and report their opinions and the results of their investigations to the Governor, with their annual report.

The Illinois Institution for the Education of the Blind, Jacksonville, Ill.

Organized in 1849.

This institution is supported by an annual appropriation by the Legislature of the State of Illinois.

Upwards of four hundred pupils have been received into the institution.

The only questions asked of an applicant for admission are, whether he or she "is a resident of the State, blind, and of suitable age, capacity and character to receive instruction."

* No return for 1874.

All are considered blind, and entitled to the benefits of the institution, who are so far deprived of sight as to be unable to learn to read large print; and the advanced age of the pupil does not debar him, if he is likely to be benefited by a course of study.

Pupils are not allowed to remain longer than five years, unless by special permit of the Trustees.

Pupils are subjected to perfect regularity of duties, free exercise in the open air, and a generous diet; they are in activity all of each day, and become, soon after admission, robust.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, History, Algebra, Geometry, Chemistry, Natural Philosophy, Rhetoric and Music, are taught. The institution is fully supplied with suitable apparatus, and books in raised letters. The mechanic arts are regularly taught.

The number of pupils in the institution, at the time of the last report, was seventy-four, which is the extent of the present capacity of the building.

The following are directions to applicants :

Letters on business of the institution should be delivered to Dr. Joshua Rhoads, Superintendent, Jacksonville, Morgan County, Illinois.

The scholars of Illinois will be provided with boarding, washing, etc., at the expense of the institution ; their friends will supply them with clothing, and pay their traveling expenses.

No blind person should be brought to the institution as a pupil, before a letter of admission has been received from the Superintendent.

In applications for the admission of pupils, answers are to be given to the following questions, when the friends of the applicant will be informed by the Superintendent whether he or she can be admitted, and, if admitted, at what time.

Questions :

1. What is the name, age and residence of the applicant ?
2. Who is the nearest friend, and to what post-office should a reply be sent.
3. At what age did the applicant become blind, and from what cause ?

4. Is the applicant totally blind, or what degree of sight does he or she possess?
 5. What instruction has the applicant received?
 6. Has the applicant been a pupil of a similar institution? If so, what institution? and how long?
 7. Is the applicant of sound health, and of sufficient mental and bodily capacity to receive instruction?
 8. Who will provide clothing for the applicant, and take charge of him or her during the vacation?

Illinois Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb, Jacksonville, Ill.

Organized in 1840.

Average number of pupils about 312.

Terms of admission :

1. Applicants should not be under ten nor over twenty-one years of age. Children possessing weak constitutions, or who have failed to attain the ordinary growth and vigor of mind and body, should not be brought to the institution under twelve years of age.
2. The annual session commences on the third Wednesday of September, and continues till the second Wednesday in June. The proper time for admitting pupils is at the opening of the session ; and punctuality is so important that none will be received, except in extraordinary cases, who do not come at or about that time.
3. Pupils from Illinois are admitted to all the privileges of the institution free of charge ; being provided with board, washing, fuel, lights, tuition, books, and everything necessary, except clothing and traveling expenses.

4. Each pupil should come provided with sufficient clothing to last one year, or with the money to procure it. He should also have a trunk with a good lock and key, and large enough to contain all his clothing—each article of which should be distinctly marked with his name.

5. In addition to the above outfit, a small sum of money should be deposited with the Principal, to meet incidental expenses—repairs of shoes, postage, etc.—any part of which remaining on hand at the close of the session, shall be returned.

6. Except in cases of sickness, all the pupils are expected to remain at the institution from the commencement till the close of each session, at which time parents or friends should be prepared to take them home to spend the vacation.*

7. All applications from a distance, letters of inquiry, etc., should be addressed to Philip G. Gillett, LL.D., Principal of the institution, Jacksonville, Ill. All letters for pupils should contain the words, "Institution for the Deaf and Dumb," as a part of their direction.

In relation to indigent pupils, the General Assembly, in February, 1857, passed the following act:

"SECTION 10. In all cases where the parents of pupils sent to the institution for the education of the deaf and dumb, and the education of the blind, are too poor to furnish them with good and sufficient clothing, or where said pupils are without parents, and unable to furnish themselves with such clothing, the Judge of the County Court of the county from which they are sent, shall certify the same to the Principal, who shall procure such necessary clothing, and charge the same to said county, and present the account, with the vouchers, to the Auditor of Public Accounts, who thereupon shall draw upon the County Treasurer for the amount so charged to the county; and the said county shall annually assess and collect, by tax, the amount necessary to pay said order or orders; and if said county shall fail so to do, the Circuit Court in said county shall, on application therefor, compel the same by mandamus."

* Friends of pupils are desired not to ask a departure from this rule. The teachers are retained at their posts of labor during the holidays as well as at all other times during the session. The school exercises are not discontinued, and must not be deranged by the temporary withdrawal of pupils to visit home. The summer vacation is long, and affords ample time for such visits.

Illinois Institution for the Education of Feeble-Minded Children, Jacksonville, Ill.

Organized in 1865. Incorporated July 1, 1871.

The design and object of the institution are not of a custodial character, but to furnish the means of education to that portion of the youth of the State not provided for in any of its other educational institutions, who are of a proper school-attending age, and who shall remain such periods of time as shall, in the estimation of the Superintendent and Board of Trustees, suffice to impart all the education practicable in each particular case, and in conformity with regulations hereinafter specified.

The institution combines in its organization both the family and the school, the children being four or five hours of each day in charge of a teacher ;

during the remainder under the care of the matron and her attendants.

Children between the ages of ten and eighteen who are idiotic, or so deficient in intelligence as to be incapable of being educated at any ordinary school, and who are regarded as suitable cases for instruction, may be admitted by the Superintendent.

Pupils from Illinois are supported free of charge. Board, tuition and washing are furnished gratuitously by the State.

The parents or guardians of those in whose behalf applications are made for admission as pupils, will be required to answer, in writing, such questions as the Superintendent may prescribe.

All pupils will be received upon trial, and will be expected to come to the institution provided with a supply of neat and substantial clothing. A bond will be required, in all cases, with securities, accompanied by a certificate of the county clerk that the sureties are responsible, to insure the removal of the pupil, when required by the Superintendent, free of expense to the institution, its officers or agents, and the provision of comfortable and suitable clothing or pay for such as may be furnished the pupil during its continuance in the school.

Pauper pupils must have a certificate from the county judge, that the County Court or Board of Supervisors have passed an order that the county from which they are sent will be responsible for clothing, incidental expenses and traveling expenses incurred on account of said pupils; also guaranteeing that said pupils shall be taken away during the annual vacation of each year without expense to the institution, or any of its officers or agents.

Printed blanks of the bond and of the certificates for pauper pupils, can be had by applying to the Superintendent of the institution, free of charge.

During the year 1873, there have been under instruction one hundred and twenty-six pupils. At the date of the last report, November 30, 1873, there were present eighty-two pupils. During the year just closed, forty-four pupils have been admitted, and twenty-six have been removed, leaving now present one hundred pupils. Of this number sixty-six are males, and thirty-four females.

It is the desire of the trustees to ascertain accurately the number of this class of children in the State, and persons knowing the residence of feeble-minded children in Illinois, will confer a favor by writing to that effect to the Superintendent, as it is desirable that reliable statistics may be gathered, in order that proper legislation may be made in behalf of all of this unfortunate class of children in the State.

School begins in September and continues ten months.

Cook County Department of Public Charities.

Established by the Board of County Commissioners, in January, 1872.

The Department includes the County Insane Asylum, Poor House and Farm, County Hospital, County Physician's and County Agent's offices, and all officials connected with those institutions and offices, except the Medical Board of Cook County Hospital.

The Board of Commissioners appoint, annually, a physician to have charge of the Poor House and Insane Asylum, who resides at Jefferson, where these institutions are located.

His salary is fixed at $1,800 per annum, with board for himself and a family of a wife and not more than two children.

All the officers of the Department are elected by the Board of County Commissioners.

The duties of the County Physician are as follows: To report daily to the coroner of the county, and as he (the coroner) may direct, attend inquests, there to give opinion as expert, or make post mortem and all necessary investigations to determine the cause of death and the manner thereof.

To visit and examine all parties reported insane, and in case they are insane, to file the necessary papers, and be present and give testimony before the proper court, that such persons may be sent to the Asylum ; also, in this connection, to visit two witnesses for each insane case, that all facts connected with the history of such insanity may be presented to the court.

To visit daily and attend professionally, when necessary, the inmates of the county jail, numbering 200 to 300.

To report daily to the County Agent, receive from him all applications concerning insane people, make any visits he may require, examine into such cases as apply to the county for trusses, surgical appliances of different kinds, etc.

In fine, to look to all the interests of the county in whatever comes within the province of a physician, hospitals not included.

The County Agent disburses the charity of the county to such persons as are not sent to any of its asylums ; under direction of the Board, he gives transportation to paupers to their homes in distant places, sends cases to the County Hospital and Poor House, and, with the decree of the County Court, to the Insane Asylum.

His compensation is $1,500 per annum.

The present officers of the Department are as follows :

Resident Physician at the Insane Asylum.

J. W. Tope.

County Physician.

F. Henrotin, Jr.

Warden of Poor House and Insane Asylum.

Geo. Kimberley.

Warden of Cook County Hospital.

Hugh McLaughlin.

County Agent.

John Dieden, cor. Randolph and Halsted.

(For description of County Hospital and mode of admission of patients, see under Hospitals.

For description of Poor House and County Insane Asylum and admission to them, see under Asylums, etc.)

The Cook County Poor House.

Located at Jefferson.

Under the Direction of the Board of County Commissioners.

There are sent to it all old and indigent persons, and all afflicted with chronic diseases, the recovery from which is hopeless, and all syphilitics who are county charges.

There is a farm attached to the institution, upon which such paupers as are able are required to work.

Paupers are sent on the order of the County Agent. The number of inmates in the House during the year 1873 averaged about 400.

The Chicago Relief and Aid Society.

Office Relief Block, 51 and 53 LaSalle Street.

Chartered Feb. 16, 1857.

The objects of this corporation "are strictly of an eleemosynary character;" "to provide an efficient and practical mode of administering and distributing the private charities of the city of Chicago; to examine and establish the necessary means for obtaining full and reliable information of the condition and wants of the poor of said city, and putting into practical and efficient operation the best system of relieving and preventing want and pauperism therein."

The business of the society is managed by a Board of Directors, and such officers and agents as the Board may appoint. The Directors are elected annually by the corporation.

The actual detail of the work of the society is left to an executive committee appointed by the Board of Directors, and subject always to their supervision.

The Board of Directors are required by law to send in writing, once a year, to the Common Council of Chicago, a report of their doings, with a statement of their receipts and expenditures, verified under oath ; of their property, and the use it is put to ; with a list of members of the corporation, and of persons who have contributed to the funds of the society, and the amounts respectively given.

The funds which, in years before the great fire, have been distributed among, and for, the poor of the city, have nearly all come from private subscriptions among the people of Chicago, in answer to solicitations from proper committees. They had distributed, since their organization, many hundred thousand dollars previous to 1871. Since the fire, their operations have been so stupendous that the amount of their former work seems insignificant.

A week after the great fire the Mayor turned over to the society all the funds and supplies received, and being forwarded, for the relief of the suffering, and delegated to it the work of distributing them. This enormous work required a much larger force than the society had in years before employed. Formerly, all the relief work was done under the direction of one superintendent ; now, there were organized, under the Executive Committee, eight departments, each in charge of a committee, the chairman of which was a member of the Executive Committee. These departments respectively took charge of the reception and handling of supplies, of shelter, of employment, of transportation and passes, of reception and correspondence, of distribution of food, clothing, etc., of the sick and hospital measures, and of the auditing of accounts.

With this organization, the society assumed, October 15, 1871, the work of relieving the destitution caused by the fire, and the expenditure and disbursement of a world's gifts—of millions of dollars.

Since the work of relief during the winter of 1871-2, and the sufferers by the fire who are able-bodied have become self-supporting, the working force of the society has been contracted to more nearly its former standard, and its work is now mainly accomplished through its General Superintendent and assistants, and its Medical Superintendent.

Most of the aid given must now necessarily be to those unable to care for themselves, and a large number of these are proper subjects for the care of hospitals, infirmaries and asylums. The society has, accordingly, wisely endowed beds in most of the established hospitals and charitable institutions of the city, which beds it now has the right to fill with such patients and persons as come under its charge; and need such offices. The conditions upon which these endowments have been made, are that for each $1,000 given, the society shall be entitled to the care and treatment of one patient or inmate.

The following is a list of the institutions thus endowed, with the amounts received by each to May 1, 1874 :

The Chicago Foundlings' Home.

No. 72 S. Wood Street.

Opened January 29, 1871. Chartered May 28, 1872.

The object of this institution is the care of forsaken children.

The Home gets its support from the unasked donations of those who approve of its work; no solicitation has ever been made.

The number of children received during the year 1873 was over 300. Of these, 79 have been adopted into Christian families, and six have been restored to their parents.

The babies are given away as fast as possible, to good Christian families.

Parties who apply for children to adopt, should do so by letter to the Superintendent, giving references as regards their Christian character, and their ability to take charge of a child, should it be given to them.

Wet nurses, who can each nourish another child beside her own, are received at the institution at a small compensation above board and lodging.

The difficulty of obtaining wet nurses made it necessary to add a Lying-in Department to the Home, and suitable arrangements having been made in the new building, as many expectant mothers will be received as the house can accommodate.

A Clinical lecture is given every Saturday evening during the winter to medical students.

The Chicago Nursery and Half-Orphan Asylum.

No. 175 Burling Street, near Center.

Established 1860.

Incorporated Feb., 1865.

The object of this institution is the care of the children of poor women for the purpose of enabling them to find employment; of children who have been deprived of either parent, and of such children as are, by agreement of parents or guardians, placed in charge of the asylum. No absolute surrender of a child is ever required. The asylum was begun as a nursery for the care of young children during the day time, the mothers paying for their care five cents a day.

Applications for admission are made to the Matron, with statements as to circumstances, means of support, and with references to some responsible person.

The price of board depends on the age of the child, and the circumstances of the parent, and ranges from fifty cents to $2.00 per week, the latter sum being charged for nursing infants.

The chief control of the institution is vested in a Board of Lady Managers elected in the beginning of each year, the committee of gentlemen, as their name indicates, only acting in an advisory capacity. The Board of Managers represents the different religious denominations and sections of the city.

The capacity of the house is 150.

Chicago Protestant Orphan Asylum.

Michigan ave., between 22nd and 23rd Streets.

Chartered Nov. 5, 1849.

Its objects, as fixed by its charter, are, "the protecting, relieving, educating of, and providing means of support and maintenance of orphan and destitute children."

The legal management of the asylum rests with the officers of the corporation and the Trustees.

The internal affairs of the asylum are managed by a Board of Directresses of forty ladies, no religious society being allowed a representation of more than five. There is a matron and a teacher.

The mother of any child, whose father is dead, or fails or refuses to care for it, may surrender it to this asylum, as also may the Mayor of Chicago, any child without father or mother, or who is abandoned by them. Any child so surrendered may be bound out to suitable employment by the Trustees, provided they insure that the child receives an education fitting its condition and circumstances in life.

The asylum building will accommodate 150 persons. There were, in August, 1873, eighty-six inmates.

Applications for admission may be made to the Matron, by whom they are referred to a Committee of Reception of the Directresses, who inquire into the circumstances of each case. The Reception Committee procure good homes for the children, by adoption into families, or otherwise, at their discretion.

The Chicago Soldiers' Home.

Located at Evanston, Ill.

Incorporated February 28, 1867.

This institution is intended to supply a home for destitute soldiers. It is situated on the shore of Lake Michigan, at Evanston, eleven miles north of the city, and has accommodations for twenty-five. The average number of inmates for 1873, was twenty-one.

It affords a pleasant home, and medical and surgical treatment to any sick or maimed ex-soldier of the State of Illinois, whether his disability originated in actual service or subsequently.

Applicants for admission must furnish satisfactory evidence of good moral character; that they had, at sometime during the war, honorably served as Illinois soldiers; and if in receipt of a pension from Government, must pay it into the treasury of the Home. Applications from a distance should be made in writing, giving full particulars as to disease or disability; as to the applicant's circumstances; and a recommendation from some respectable physician or person residing in his town.

The institution is supported by interest accruing from an invested fund.

The Chicago Erring Woman's Refuge for Reform.

Corner Indiana Ave. and Thirty-first Street.

Chartered Feb. 16, 1865.

The objects of this corporation are the relief, protection, care and reformation of such erring females as may voluntarily place themselves under its care, or may be so placed by their parents or guardians, or by any municipal corporation, or otherwise, according to law.

It is controlled by a Board of Trustees, and its internal affairs are conducted by a Board of Lady Managers.

No charge is made to inmates.

Applicants for admission are received and given temporary shelter by the Matron ; after which their cases are investigated by a committee of the Board of Managers, who may regularly admit the applicants. Persons who are received by this committee as inmates, are required to remain two years, unless in the judgment of the Board they may safely be dismissed sooner.

The Refuge can accommodate properly twenty-three inmates. The institution provides, to some extent, employment and instruction to the inmates.

The Refuge has received, according to law, certain sums of money from the city, collected as fines in the courts, towards its support. It has also some endowments from which it has an income.

Religious service is held on Sunday, and a prayer meeting one evening each week. One evening, each week, is devoted to recreation, a committee from the Board of Managers preparing the entertainments.

Chicago Home for the Friendless.

No. 911 Wabash Ave.

Established January, 1859.

Founded by Jonathan Burr, Esq., and is a corporate body.

Its object, as stated by the charter, is to relieve, aid and provide homes for friendless and indigent women and children.

It is under the direction of a board of lady managers; the President and Secretary of the corporation holding, ex officio, the same offices in the board. The entire board and officers are elected annually on the second Monday in January. Any person may be a member of the corporation by paying annually one dollar, or by paying at one time, ten dollars.

It is supported chiefly by private charity.

Worthy poor and strangers are taken, without regard to creed, color, or nationality, and furnished a temporary home until a permanent one can be provided; women traveling, who may by accident have become needy, and girls coming to Chicago in search of employment, and becoming destitute, are special objects of its charity. It takes children of all ages and conditions, whether orphans or not, who need a home; it furnishes them one until they can be provided for.

The law makes the Board of Managers the legal guardians of all children who are surrendered to them, and they can indenture such children to a trade, or honorable employment, provided they are insured a proper education.

A mother may surrender her child to this corporation, provided its father is either dead, or is, by his habits or otherwise, incapacitated for taking care of it. The Mayor of Chicago may surrender to the Home any child whose parents or legal guardians are not, or cannot be known. It is made by law the duty of any Judge, Justice of the Peace, or the Mayor, in their judgment, to surrender to the Home any child who is brought before them, and shown to be without parents or guardians, or in care of such as by a dissolute life, or abusive treatment, are unfit to have the care of such child.

There is, in connection with the Home, and under its own roof, an Industrial School. There is, also under the control of the managers, in addition, a school called the BURR INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, which is located in another portion of the city.

There is published under the auspices of the Home, a monthly paper, the object of which is to advance the interests of the institution, called "THE HOME VISITOR."

The following is the method of obtaining a child from the "Home":

Any person desiring to take a child from the "Home," for adoption, or to bring up to maturity, must communicate in person, or by writing, with the Secretary or Matron; giving a full statement of the circumstances in which the child will be placed, if transferred from the "Home," to his or her care,—what position in the family such child will hold,—what labor will be required,—what advantages for education will be given, and what will be the religious privileges and training.

These facts must always be accompanied with good and satisfactory recommendations, or the requests can receive no attention from the Committee charged by the Board with the responsibility of selecting homes for the children.

The House of the Good Shepherd.

Cor. North Market and Elm Streets.

Established in 1859. Chartered March, 1867.

For the reformation of women and girls who come to it of their own accord, or who are placed in the asylum by their parents or other competent authority; the maintenance of an industrial school for the instruction and protection of young girls who are exposed; and have no proper parental care; and the furnishing of a home for a class of magdalens composed of reformed women who may resolve to spend their lives in the convent.

It is conducted by the "Sisters of the Good Shepherd"—sixteen in number—and is under the superintendence of the Sister Superior, Mother Mary of the Nativity.

The different classes of inmates of the House occupy separate apartments, and never come in contact with each other.

The inmates are employed according to their respective strength and capacity. They are principally occupied at house-work, sewing, embroidery, and the cultivation of their own garden. They are allowed to see their friends once a month, but never to visit them.

The support of the institution comes through the liberality of its friends.

All who apply for admission to the institution are taken, if they are proper subjects for its care, whatever be their religion, race, or creed.

Newsboys' Home.

Temporarily located at 44 LaSalle Street.

The object of this institution is the amelioration of the condition of the street children of Chicago. It grew out of previous efforts made by the Chicago Sunday School Union (now extinct) so early as the spring of 1867. In 1868 the charter for the "Newsboys' and Bootblacks' Home" was procured, and a Board of Managers, elected under its provisions, leased a large hall over Wright's livery stable, on the north end of Clark street bridge.

About one year after, the association purchased a lot of ground on Quincy street, near fifth avenue, upon which is now erecting a large four-story brick building, which is intended to be the future "Home."

The present building was opened July 26, 1873, and the number of boys received and cared for to May, 1874, was 314.

One of the most important features of the work at the "Home" is the sending of boys to country homes. Care is taken, in doing this, to insure permanency and profit both to the boy and to those who take him.

There is also an evening school, under the direction of the Rev. J. A. Smale. The branches taught are reading, spelling, writing, and arithmetic.

Old People's Home.

Indiana Avenue, south of Twenty-sixth Street.

This institution was originally organized as the Old Ladies' Home, and chartered under that title February 14th, 1865. Its object is "to provide a home for aged ladies (not less than fifty-five years of age), and otherwise homeless, where, on suitable conditions, they may spend their remaining years in circumstances of comfort and usefulness."

In order to induce the management to enlarge its sphere of action and usefulness, by providing a home for aged males also, and likewise to aid in the erection of a suitable building, the Chicago Relief and Aid Society gave to the institution $50,000. With this sum, the trustees are erecting a commodious building, of brick and stone, on Indiana avenue, near Thirty-ninth street, which they hope to occupy about November 1st.

The government of the Home is as follows :

1. Board of Trustees, who exercise a general supervision over the institution, and control all its property interests.
2. The internal management is given to a committee of twenty-four ladies, who are chosen from each of the Protestant denominations of the city.

Males are not now received into the Home, owing to lack of funds.

The need of immediate accommodation for indigent aged women is very great, and it will take all the money at the command of the trustees to erect so much of the proposed building as will accommodate this class.

Its support is derived chiefly from the voluntary contributions of the public.

A person desiring to become a beneficiary of the Home, must present to the Matron, or Board, a written statement of her condition and needs, and proof of character. She will then be visited by a committee of the Board, when, if that body so vote, the applicant will be received. On her admission she must pay $100, and, if possible, provide herself with bed, bedding and clothing.

Orphan Girls' Home.

315 W. Monroe Street.

In January, 1874, Mrs. Elizabeth Haskins took under her care eight homeless girls, and bore all their expenses until the following May, at which time the self-imposed burden was shared by others.

The result of this experiment was the procuring of a charter embodying the objects and character of the work to be done by the organization.

It is designed to furnish a home for orphan girls between the ages of twelve and sixteen years; a home in which all industries suitable for the inmates can be taught and carried on, so that the girls will have an opportunity to learn the means of honorable self-support. Their tastes and capacities will be studied, and they will be fitted for the best thing they can do.

It is the purpose of the projectors to proceed as soon as possible to the work of raising a building-fund, in order to enable them to erect a suitable "Home" for their enterprise.

St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum.

No. 3 Douglas Place.

Organised August 1, 1849.

This institution is devoted to the training, education and general welfare of orphans, independently of sect or condition.

It is governed by a Board of Trustees, and its internal administration is carried on by twelve Sisters of St. Joseph, under the supervision of the Mother St. Joseph.

The capacity of the institution is two hundred beds, and during the past year there has been almost constantly that number of inmates. On July 1, there were 110 girls and 90 boys.

Boys are received only between the ages of two to seven years; girls, between two and twelve.

The largest portion of the revenues of the asylum are derived from the various Roman Catholic churches, the remainder from other charitably disposed persons.

This establishment is entirely of an eleemosynary character, and possesses every needed facility for the health and welfare of the children. It is delightfully located, has well ventilated rooms and proper bathing accommodations.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETIES.

Chicago Academy of Sciences.

No. 263 Wabash Ave.

Established in 1857, as the CHICAGO ACADEMY OF NATURAL SCIENCES. Incorporated February 16th, 1865, under the present name.

The Academy is an association whose object is the increase and diffusion of scientific knowledge, by a museum and library, the reading and publication of original papers, and other suitable means.

It is composed of life, resident and corresponding members.

Any person may become a life member by payment of $500.

Resident members are elected from among residents of Chicago, on recommendation of the committee on membership. The initiation fee is $10, and the annual dues $5.

Corresponding memberships are conferred on scientific men not living in Chicago, by a vote of the Academy.

Meetings are held every month, on the second Tuesday evening, except the months of July, August and September. At the meetings scientific papers are read, discussions entered into, and specimens exhibited. The meeting in January is the annual meeting.

The free use of the specimens in the museum and the books in the library is granted to members and students at any time, to be used inside the building; none being taken away.

On Saturday of each week the rooms of the Academy are thrown open to the public, free of charge.

Applications for membership will be received by the Secretary.

OFFICERS FOR 1874-5.

President—Henry W. Fuller.

Vice-Presidents—H. M. Thompson, Charles Biggs.

Secretary—B. W. Thomas, 132 La Salle Street, Chicago.

Corresponding Secretary—Charles Adams, M. D.

Treasurer—Geo. M. Higginson.

Trustees—H. A. Johnson, M.D., A. A. Munger, H. H. Babcock, S. J. Jones, M.D.; W. M. Scudder.

Alumni Association of the Chicago Medical College.

Organized March 5, 1867.

Composed of all the regular graduates of the Chicago Medical College who make application for membership and pay the required fees. Graduates with the honorary or ad eundem degree are associate members, and have all the privileges of members, except the right to vote and hold office.

The purposes of the organization are defined in the Constitution thus :

" The objects of this Association shall be to keep alive and perpetuate that kindly and cordial feeling which binds us together by reason of our common Alma Mater ; to encourage the interchange of professional experience, and keep alive that ardor among those who are identified with their Alma Mater in attempting to elevate the standard of medical education; and likewise to secure to the institution a record of the professional history of its alumni."

The Association meets annually in the forenoon of the day of the annual commencement of the college.

The business of this meeting consists of the reading of letters from Alumni who are unable to attend, of the reports of committees and officers, of the prize essay, and of the delivery of an address by the retiring President.

There has been offered since 1869, annually, a prize of $100 for the best essay to be presented by any alumnus on any medical or surgical topic he may choose; and since 1871, a prize for the second best essay has been offered of $50. Toward the first prize Dr. N. S. Davis has given each year $50, and the second prize is wholly the donation of Dr. Lyman Ware. The first year after the prize was offered, no award was made, for want of competing essays that complied with the rules governing the committee. In 1871, the prize was awarded Dr. Lyman Ware for an essay on "Antagonisms between Opium and Belladonna." In 1872, no competing papers were presented. In 1873, one essay was presented, but it did not attain to the required standard, and no prize was awarded. In 1874, the first prize was awarded to George H. Fuller, M. D., of the class of 1869, for an essay on "Cholagogues."

Essays competing for prizes must be sent to the Secretary before February 15th. Each essay must be designated by some device or motto, and be accompanied by a sealed envelope bearing the same device or motto, containing the name and address of the author. The essays are examined by a committee, consisting of Drs. N. S. Davis, H. A. Jonnison, Walter Hay, and Lyman Ware.

The envelopes accompanying the successful essays are opened at the annual meeting, and the names of the authors and the essays read before the Association.

In 1870, the office of Necrologist was instituted, for the purpose of gathering a necrology of the alumni. At each meeting such biographical sketches as he has prepared are read.

All the officers of the Association are elected annually, except the Secretary and Treasurer, and the Necrologist, who are permanent officers.

At the meeting held in 1874, a committee was appointed for the purpose of providing an entertainment for the next annual meeting of the Association.

OFFICERS FOR 1874-5.

President—D. S. Jenks, M. D., Class 1866, Plano, Illinois.

1st Vice-President—A. J. Smith, M. D., Class 1871, Wabash, Ind.

2nd Vice-President—V. F. Kinney, M. D., Class 1874.

Secretary and Treasurer—S. A. McWilliams, M. D., Class 1866, No. 125 Eighteenth St., Chicago.

Necrologist—Wm. E. Quine, M. D., Class 1869, Chicago.

Committee on Entertainment—Drs. Thomas Bond,

Wm. E. Quine, Chas. W. Earle, Lyman Ware, S. A. McWilliams.

Alumni Association of the Rush Medical College.

Organized October, 1868.

Composed of the graduates and faculty of Rush Medical College.

Its objects are to encourage and promote social and professional intercourse among the graduates of Rush Medical College.

Meetings occur annually at the time of the regular annual commencement.

OFFICERS FOR 1874-5.

President—C. Goodbrake, Clinton.

Vice-President—F. A. Emmons, Chicago.

Secretary—S. Cole, Denver, Col.

Treasurer—W. C. Hunt, Chicago.

Chairman of the Executive Committee—D. S. Root, Chicago.

MEDICAL PRIZES.

OPEN FOR UNIVERSAL COMPETITION.

Stevens' Triennial Prize.

Established by the late Alexander H. Stevens, M. D., former President of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, on the following plan :

The prize is open for universal competition.

Each prize, to be awarded triennially, is to consist of the interest yielded by the principal fund during the preceding three years, and will amount to two hundred dollars.

The administration of the prize is intrusted to a commission, consisting of the President of the College of Physicians and Surgeons (ex officio), the President of the Alumni Association (ex officio), and the Professor of Physiology (ex officio) in the same institution.

The competing essays on either of the following subjects, must be sent in to the President of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, on or before the 1st day of January, 1876. Each essay must be designated by a device or motto, and must be accompanied by a sealed envelope bearing the same device or motto, and containing the name and address of the author. The envelope belonging to the successful essay will be opened, and the name of the author announced at the annual commencement of the College in March, 1876.

The questions proposed are as follows:

1. The history of epidemic diseases in the United States from 1860 to 1870; statements as to localities, dates, extent of prevalence and mortality, to be authenticated by appropriate references. The question of treatment is not to form a part of the above subject.

2. The use of the spectroscope in its application to scientific and practical medicine.

Warren Prize.

Founded by the late Dr. J. Mason Warren, in memory of his father, John C. Warren, M.D.

The Warren Triennial Prize, amounting to somewhat less than $400 will be awarded in 1877 to the author of the best essay considered worthy of a prize, on any subject in Physiology, Surgery, or Pathological Anatomy, embodying original researches. The arbitrators are the Medical Board of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Each essay should be accompanied with a sealed envelope containing the author's name and address, and be sent to the undersigned on or before February 1st, 1877.

NORTON FOLSOM,
Resident Physician, Mass. Gen'l Hospital.

Boylston Medical Prize Questions.

The Boylston Medical Committee, appointed by the President and Fellows of Harvard University, consists of the following Physicians :

J. B. S. Jackson, M.D.	Henry J. Bigelow, M.D.
D. H. Storer, M.D.	Richard M. Hodges, M.D.
Chas. G. Putnam, M.D.	Calvin Ellis, M.D.
Morrill Wyman, M.D.	Samuel Cabot, M.D.

At the annual meeting held June 1st, 1874, it was voted that no dissertation worthy of a prize had been offered on either of the subjects proposed for 1874.

The following are the subjects proposed for 1875 :

1. Original Researches in Medical Science.
2. So-called "Concussion of the Spine."

The author of a dissertation, considered worthy of a prize, on either of the subjects proposed for 1875, will be entitled to a premium of One Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

Dissertations on the above subjects must be transmitted, post-paid, to J. B. S. Jackson, M.D., Boston, on or before the first Wednesday in April, 1875.

The following are the questions proposed for 1876:

1. Civil Hospital-Construction (not of Lunatic Asylums); Location, Materials, Arrangement, Warming, Ventilation, Drainage, Lighting; with Designs.

The author of a dissertation on this subject, considered worthy of a prize, will be entitled to a premium of Three Hundred Dollars.

2. Do Women require mental and bodily rest during Menstruation; and to what extent?

The author of a dissertation on this subject, considered worthy of a prize, will be entitled to a premium of Two Hundred Dollars.

Dissertations on these subjects must be transmitted as above, on or before the first Wednesday in April, 1876.

Each dissertation must be accompanied by a sealed packet, on which shall be written some device or sentence, and within which shall be enclosed the author's name and residence. The same device or sentence is to be written on the dissertation to which the packet is attached.

The writer of each dissertation is expected to transmit his communication to the President of the Committee, J. B. S. Jackson, M.D., in a distinct and plain handwriting, and with the pages bound in book form, within the time specified.

Any clue by which the authorship of a dissertation is made known to the Committee, will debar such dissertation from competition.

Preference will be given to dissertations which exhibit original work.

All unsuccessful dissertations are deposited with the Secretary, from whom they may be obtained, with the sealed packet unopened, if called for within one year after they have been received.

By an order adopted in 1826, the Secretary was directed to publish annually the following votes:

1. That the Board do not consider themselves as approving the doctrines contained in any of the dissertations to which premiums may be adjudged.
2. That in case of publication of a successful dissertation, the author be considered as bound to print the above vote in connection therewith.

RICHARD M. HODGES, M.D., Sec'y,
Boston, Mass.

Fiske Medical Prize Questions.

The Trustees of the Fiske Fund, at the annual meeting of the Rhode Island Medical Society, held in Providence, June 10th inst., gave notice that no award had been made by them for questions proposed for the year 1874.

They propose the following subjects for 1875 :

1. Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis, its pathology and treatment.
2. Pyæmia.

For the best dissertation on each or either of these subjects, they will pay the sum of Two Hundred Dollars.

Every competitor for a premium is expected to conform to the following regulations, viz. :

To forward to the Secretary of the Fiske Fund Trustees, on or before the first day of May, 1875, free of all expense, a copy of his dissertation, with a motto written thereupon, and also accompanying a sealed packet, having the same motto inscribed upon the outside, and his name and place of residence within.

Previously to receiving the premium awarded, the author of the successful dissertation must transfer to the Trustees all his right, title and interest in and to the same, for the use, benefit and behoof of the Fiske Fund.

Letters accompanying the unsuccessful dissertations will be destroyed by the Trustees unopened, and the dissertations may be procured by their respective authors, if application be made therefor within three months.

LLOYD MORTON, M.D.,
FENNER H. PECKHAM, M.D., } Trustees.
GEO. W. JENCKS, M.D., }
S. AUGUSTUS ARNOLD, M.D.,
Secretary of Fiske Fund.

Annual Prize

OF THE "AMERICAN JOURNAL OF OBSTETRICS AND DISEASES OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN."

Dr. B. F. Dawson, the founder and late editor of the above Journal, offers the following prize for the best essay on the subjoined subject :

One hundred and fifty dollars, in gold, for the best essay on "Congenital Deformities, and Diseases depending on Maladies of the Uterus or Membranes."

The competing essays must be sent to the publishers (Wm. Wood & Co., 27 Great Jones Street, New York) of the Journal on or before April 15, 1875.

The names of the authors must accompany the manuscripts in sealed envelopes, as usual with prize papers.

The essays may be written in the English, French, or German language; and that one to which the prize may be awarded by the censors, whose names will accompany and vouch for the verdict, is claimed for first publication in the Journal.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Board of Health of the City of Chicago.

Office, Rooms 15, 16, 17, Honore Block.

Created by law, March 9, 1867.

The Board is composed of the Mayor and six other persons, appointed by the Judges of the Superior Court; three of these must be physicians. Two members are appointed biennially to fill the places of two who go out of office. They receive $500 annually for services, and are required to give bonds of $25,000 for the faithful discharge of their duties.

The Board establishes regulations deemed necessary to promote the health and sanitary condition of the city, and has general supervision over subjects of this class. They employ sanitary inspectors and police, and make annually a report in writing to the Common Council.

The Board elects one of their members Sanitary Superintendent, who is the chief executive officer, and who devotes his whole time to the duties of the office, and receives $2,500 salary; they elect also a Health Officer, who is a general executive officer a Secretary, and four Standing Committees, on Finance, Ordinances, Sanitary and Sanitary Police, respectively.

The Board meets each week, on Tuesday, at 3 P. M.

Reports to the Board of Health,

AND ACTS REQUIRED BY LAW OF PRACTICING PHYSICIANS IN THE CITY OF CHICAGO.

Physicians are required to report to the Board, in writing, any case of "malignant or yellow fever, small-pox, or other infectious or pestilential disease," giving street and number of house where situated. Physicians neglecting this are liable to a fine of fifty dollars.

Physicians and midwives are required to keep a record of all births at which they assist or advise, giving time and place of birth, sex and color of child born, name and residence of each parent, maiden name of mother and occupation of father, so far as can be ascertained, and to transmit to the Board a copy of such record within four days after the birth.

Deaths must be registered in like manner, giving date of death, name, color, age, sex, and condition (married or single) of deceased, the place and cause of death, and a record thereof transmitted to the Board within thirty-six hours after the death.

No burial permit is granted without a certificate of death, and no body can be buried without a permit from the Board.

Physicians are required to register their names and places of business with the Board, and any change they may make in residence or office.

Failure to perform these duties involves a liability to a fine of five to five hundred dollars.

Blank forms of birth and death certificates can be obtained of the Sanitary Superintendent.

Laws Regarding Health In the City of Chicago.

The law requires that dead, undressed animals shall be removed four miles outside the city limits,—fine for violation, $100 for each offense.

No rendering or trying establishments for carcasses are allowable within four miles of the city limits,—fine for violation, $100 per day, after notification.

Any person on a sewerred street, failing to connect his house with the public sewer, and to provide a suitable privy, kept in decent order, is liable to a fine of $25, and $5 for each day he so fails, after being notified to provide any of these means by the Health Officer.

The Board of Health may require all persons in any part of the city, to be vaccinated within a certain time, when this is deemed necessary to stop the spread of small-pox, and a refusal to obey incurs a fine of $5 to $25, provided, the Board furnish suitable facilities for vaccination, which shall be free to the poor.

The Board of Health is required to serve a written notice on the owner of premises on which any nuisance may be found, to abate the same within a reasonable time. If the owner fails to obey the order, at the end of the prescribed time the Board is to abate the nuisance at the expense of the owner, who is himself liable to a fine of $3 to $50, in addition to the expense of abatement.

The Health Officer is to remove cases of small-pox, cholera, ship or yellow fever, or other pestilential disease, to proper hospitals, except such as may be safely left at their homes.

The Board causes printed notices with the words, "small pox here," to be posted on houses containing patients with this disease. Tearing down such notice incurs a fine of $25 to $50. It is a crime for the owner to put a case of small-pox out of any premises he may possess, without notifying the Board,—fine, $10 to $100, and confinement in the Bridewell, not exceeding sixty days, at the discretion of the court, for each offense.

The Board of Health is empowered, (with the consent of the Common Council,) when necessary, to establish places of quarantine outside the city, and require all conveyances approaching the city to stop, and submit to proper examinations and restrictions, for the prevention of the spread of disease within the city.

No person shall "vend, give, or deliver any deadly poison," without marking the same "poison," under a penalty of $5 for each offense.

No person shall sell impure, unwholesome, or adulterated, or diluted, milk, under penalty of $25 to $100. Keeping cattle or swine in such a place or way as to be offensive to neighbors, is declared a nuisance—punishable by a fine of $25 to $100, and a daily fine for refusal to abate. It is a crime to throw into any street, alley or lot, offal, filth, dung, or other unsound or offensive matter, or anything liable to become such,—penalty, $25.

Sanitary Superintendent and officers are required to condemn and confiscate all unwholesome and decaying fruit, vegetables, and meat, offered for sale as food, within the city.

The Board of Health provides scavengers to remove all garbage from the streets and alleys, and no private scavengers are allowed to do this work.

No child is to be received or retained in public or private schools, who has not been vaccinated; the evidence of vaccination being a certificate to that effect by a physician, or sanitary inspector of the Board.

City Physician.

The Common Council of Chicago elects biennially a City Physician, who is amenable to, and under control of, the Council and the Mayor. The duties of the City Physician are, to attend the Small-pox Hospital, House of Correction, and the Police Stations; to vaccinate the poor in case of need, and to attend to such other duties as required by the Mayor.

CITY PHYSICIAN FOR 1874.

W. P. Dunne.

Coroners.LAWS REGARDING THEIR DUTIES.

The statute law of Illinois requires that “Every coroner, as soon as and whenever he shall be informed or know of the body of any person being found dead, (supposed to have come to his or her death by violence, casualty, or any undue means,) shall proceed forthwith to summon a jury of twelve good and lawful men, of the neighborhood wherein said dead body shall be found lying, or being, to repair at such time as he shall denote to the place as aforesaid, and to inquire (upon a view of said body,) how, and in what manner, and by whom, or what, he, or she, came to his, or her, death; and in case any juror, or jurors, so summoned, shall fail, neglect or refuse to attend, the said coroner shall summon another, or others, from among the bystanders, to serve in his or their place.”

Any juror summoned and failing to appear is liable to a fine of $2.

The jurors are required to make oath to the Coroner, that they will faithfully inquire how, and in what manner, the body came to its death, and that they will render to him a proper verdict thereof.

The Coroner is empowered to compel the attendance of any witnesses whose testimony may probably be required to prove any facts relating to the objects of the inquest.

If the evidence of any witness implicates any person as the unlawful slayer of the person over whose body the inquest is held, the coroner is required to compel said witness to give bonds to appear at the proper court, to testify in said case; on failure to give such bonds, the witness is to be detained in the county jail until such evidence is required.

The Coroner is required, also, to apprehend and commit any person implicated, as such slayer, to the county jail, to await trial. The Coroner is required to see that the body over which an inquest is held, if that of a stranger, is properly buried, and to take charge of any effects found thereon, and, after due notice, if they are unclaimed, to sell them at auction.

In the absence of the Coroner, any Magistrate may act in his stead.

CORONER OF COOK COUNTY.

Laws to Prevent the Sale of Drugs

DESIGNED TO PROCURE CRIMINAL ABORTION IN THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

- An act went into effect July 1st, 1872, prohibiting the sale of any drug or medicine, known or presumed to be ecbolic, or abortifacient, except upon the written prescription of some well-known and respectable practicing physician. It is required that there shall be registered in a book provided for the purpose, the name of the physician prescribing such medicine, the person to whom sold, the name of the medicine or medicines, and the amount, together with the date of the sale. Druggists and dealers are prohibited from keeping, advertising, or selling, any preparation of drugs designed expressly for females, unless such preparation bears the copy of a certificate, made under oath, by five respectable physicians, they having examined the formula of such compound or preparation, sworn to by the proprietor, that, in their judgment, such preparation is not of an abortifacient character.

The penalty for violation of this act, is a fine of fifty to five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail thirty days to six months, or both.

The following important Act was passed at the last session of the Illinois Legislature :

A BILL

TO PROMOTE THE SCIENCE OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY IN THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

SECTION 1. It shall be lawful in cities and counties whose population exceeds twenty thousand inhabitants, for superintendents of penitentiaries, wardens of poorhouses, coroners and city undertakers, to deliver to the professors and teachers in medical colleges and schools in this State, and for professors and teachers to receive, the remains or body of any deceased person, for purposes of medical and surgical study: provided, that said remains shall not have been regularly interred, and shall not have been desired for interment by any relative or friend of said deceased, within twenty-four hours after death: provided, also, that the remains of no person who may be known to have relatives or friends, shall be so delivered or received without the consent of said relatives or friends: and provided, that the remains of no one detained for debt, or as a witness, or on suspicion of crime, or of any traveler, or of any person who shall have expressed a desire in his or her last sickness that his or her body may be interred, shall be delivered or received as aforesaid, but shall be buried in the usual manner:

and provided also, that in case the remains of any person so delivered or received shall be subsequently claimed by any surviving relative or friend, they shall be given up to said relative or friend for interment.

SEC. 2. And it shall be the duty of the said professors and teachers decently to bury in some public cemetery, the remains of all bodies after they shall have answered the purposes of study as aforesaid; and for any neglect or violation of the provisions of this act, the party so neglecting shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty dollars, to be sued for by the health officers of said cities, or other places, for the benefit of their department.

SEC. 3. The remains or bodies of said persons as may be so received by the professors and teachers, as aforesaid, shall be used for the purposes of medical and surgical study alone, and in this State only; and whoever shall use such remains for any other purpose, or shall remove such remains beyond the limits of this State, or in any manner traffic in the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction, be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year in a county jail.

SEC. 4. Every person who shall deliver up the remains of any deceased person in violation of, or contrary to, any or all of the provisions contained in the first section of this act, and every person who shall receive said remains, knowing the same to have been delivered contrary to any of the provisions of said section, shall each and every of them be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction, be imprisoned for a term not exceeding two years in a county jail.

Abstract of the LawsOF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS IN RELATION TO COMMITMENT OF PATIENTS TO THE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

No patient should be sent to an asylum without application having been made in advance, and a distinct affirmative reply received.

In all cases, some respectable person living in the county in which the person alleged to be insane resides, shall file with the Judge of the County Court a statement, in writing, substantially as follows :

"STATE OF ILLINOIS, ——— County, ss.

"I, the undersigned, hereby state that ———, (naming the person,) of the county and State aforesaid, is insane, and I believe for his (or her) benefit (for the safety of the community) he (or she) ought to be committed to an Illinois Hospital for the Insane. The facts in his (or her) case can be proven by ———, (naming at least two persons, one of whom shall be a respectable physician.)

"Dated this ——— day of ———, A. D. ———.

A. B."

The said Judge shall thereupon order the Clerk of said court to issue subpoenas for the persons named as witnesses, and such other persons as he may think proper, to appear and testify concerning the facts in the case of the person alleged to be insane. He shall also order subpoenas for six suitable persons to serve as jurors in the case, at least one of whom shall be a physician.

§ 7. If after hearing the evidence, the jury shall be satisfied of the truth of the facts set forth in the statement aforesaid, they shall render to the Judge a verdict substantially setting forth the facts in the case, that said person is a fit subject for an asylum. If the person is a pauper, it should be so stated in the verdict.

If the person be a pauper, the Judge must see that he is supplied with clothing, and removed when demanded by the Trustees of the Asylum ; if he be not a pauper, some friend must be in like manner responsible, giving a bond for clothing and incidental expenses.

Persons who are able must pay for their board at the asylum.

A copy of the verdict, certified by the Clerk, is the authority for detaining the person in the asylum. The Sheriff, or other suitable person, receives a warrant for taking the insane person to the asylum.

No idiot shall be admitted.

SPECIAL ORDERS OF TRUSTEES.

1. The Superintendent is ordered to insist strictly on previous notice in all cases, and admit no patients who do not bring a certificate of admission, issued from the Hospital, and bearing its official seal.

2. That a sufficiency of new and suitable clothing (the amount required in the law) shall invariably be brought with the patient, or an amount of money deposited at the Institution sufficient to cover any deficiencies.

3. That the bonds given for the incidental expenses of patients not paupers, shall have, besides the principal, the name of two sureties, accompanied by the certificate of the County Judge or Clerk, that EITHER OF THE SURETIES is sufficient for the conditions of the bond.

4. That no female shall be admitted while in a state of pregnancy ; and a discovery of that condition after arrival shall annul any grant of admission.

5. That no admissions be granted when it is apparent that the patient has been brought into the State in a condition of chronic insanity, unless the circumstances making proper such change of residence be fully satisfactory.

6. That any palpable misstatements as to material facts, or any withholding of the same, in any jury verdict, or any other evidence on which patients are admitted, shall justify the Superintendent in declining to admit the patient.

The Morgue of Cook County.

County Hospital Grounds, cor. 18th and Arnold Sts., Chicago.

Opened June, 1872.

The Morgue is under the supervision of the Superintendent of Public Charities, the building being in charge of the Warden of the hospital. It is established for the reception of the bodies of unknown persons drowned, or found dead in the streets, and is open for the inspection of the public, daily, from 7 A. M. to sunset.

A book is kept in the office of the Morgue, in which citizens may record the names of missing friends, and their description, with addresses to which information may be sent.

No corpse is received unless in charge of a policeman, or on the order of the Coroner, or Superintendent of Police, except when the Warden is sure the body was found dead in the street, or was drowned.

An accurate record of the details of the recovery of any corpse is kept in the Morgue, with full description of the body and clothing, and other things found thereon. Bodies remain on exhibition seventy-two hours, when, if unclaimed, they are buried; but the clothing and effects remain on exhibition twenty-one days longer.

Photographs of all unrecognized bodies are taken and kept, for inspection of parties hunting for missing friends.

No body taken to the Morgue is taken away, or interred, except on the written order of the Coroner.

The clothing of unrecognized bodies, after the period of public exhibition has expired, is washed, and tied up in a package, and kept for six months.

The number of bodies received during the two years ending June 1st, 1874, was 223. Of this number there were recognized 164; unrecognized, 59.

Board of Examining Surgeons for Pensions.

President—Wm. C. Lyman.

Secretary—Francis A. Emmons.

Treasurer—E. O. F. Roler.

This Board meets at No. 125 Twenty-second St., at 10 A. M., on the first Wednesday of each month, to examine such applicants for pension, and increase of pension, as present themselves under orders from the Commissioner of Pensions at Washington.

The further duties of the Board are, to examine such artificial limbs as are furnished by the Government to pensioners, on application; and to make measurements for, and apply trusses that are furnished by the War Department to pensioners suffering from hernia.

The fee for each examination is one dollar for each member of the Board who participates in the examination.
